Israelis Approve Peace Pact With Egyptians

KISSINGER (L), SADAT CONFER (UPI)

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel today approved a draft interim peace treaty for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to take to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat for consideration, diplomatic sources reported.

Egyptian political sources in Alexandria, Egypt said it would be initialed Friday or Saturday. They said it would go into effect immediately after it is initialed, that it will be valid for a year and that it will be subject to renewal annually.

As details of the agreement began to unfold the Israeli government officially broke the news to the Jewish nation that it would be ceding territory to Egypt.

Diplomatic sources in Jerusalem said Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and Kissinger with their aides hammered out the draft treaty in a nonstop negotiating session in the prime minister's office building in Jerusalem's Valley of the Cross. Foreign Minister Yigal Allon told Israelis on the state radio of the territorial concessions.

The diplomats told UPI staff correspondent Allen Alter that with the draft Israeli-Egyptian pact completed, the negotiators turned to the writing of proposed versions of companion pacts, one to be signed by Israel, Egypt and the United States and the other to be signed by Israel and the United States.

The three-nation treaty would contain Egyptian pledges to ease its economic and trade boycott and political and propaganda campaign against Israel. The U.S.-Israeli pact would spell out increased American economic and arms aid for Israel.

Kissinger was shuttling to Alexandria, Egypt, to confer with Sadat tonight.

In an interview on the state radio, Allon said Israel would lose one-seventh of the Sinai — taken by Israel in the 1967 Middle East war — to Egypt. There would be a new and wider U.N. buffer zone. Egyptian forces and the United Nations now occupy about one-tenth of the peninsula.

He said the Egyptian strip on the east bank of the Suez Canal would be widened from 10 miles to 13 miles by taking over the current U.N. buffer zone. Moreover, Egyptians would be given about four square kilometers of territory now held by Israel to the south of the canal to give them easier access to the Abu Rodei Rodeis oil fields being ceded by the Israelis.

Allon said the Israelis would pull back even further to give the United Nations a new and wider buffer zone of 11 to 28 miles in width.

The foreign minister said the Egyptians have agreed to Israeli demands for allowing U.S. volunteer technicians to set up two manned early warning stations in the Mitla and Gidi passes of the buffer zone. He said also the Egyptians agreed to allow the Americans to set up two unmanned electronic stations to check on military movements by either the Egyptians or the Israelis.

Kissinger has said Washington would not implement the technician plan unless it receives congressional approval. President Ford said in Milwaukee, Wis., Monday he would require an okay by both houses for the "very limited number" — 100 to 150 men — needed to man the buffer zone bases.

U.S. Senate Majority Leader Mike mansfield, D.-Mont., said in Helena he would oppose use of U.S. technicians.

According to Allon, Egypt also agreed to allow Israel to keep its $150 million Umm Khashiba main advance warning base on the slopes of the Gidi Pass. Under the proposed treaty terms Egypt would be given a similar base on its side of the passes which are the military strongpoints of the Sinai.

Kissinger was not announcing any negotiation details. The secretary has made it clear he prefers to have no details made public until he has the document signed by both parties.

Kissinger was expected to return to Israel by Wednesday night or Thursday morning with Sadat's reaction.

Diplomats said Kissinger appeared within reach of his goal of getting the Israeli-Egyptian pact signed this week. However, a senior U.S. official in the Kissinger party has cautioned that trouble could arise in getting both sides to sign a document spelling out specifics of what had been agreed upon orally.

(In Alexandria, presidential spokesman Tahsin Bashir said today Israel and Egypt have reached agreement on about 90 percent of the fundamentals in a new peace pact.

("But then the (outstanding) 10 percent is very important, and when you put that in legal terms you still have problems you cannot dismiss quickly," he said.)

The broadcast marked the first time the Israeli public has been told openly what has long been whispered — the extent of the territory to be given up in an interim settlement with Egypt.

Allon said Egypt would advance from its 10-mile-wide strip along the Suez Canal across the four-mile-wide U.N. buffer zone into some of the Sinai territory now held by Israeli forces.

The foreign minister said Israeli troops would pull back across the desert to the eastern slopes of the strategic Gidi and Mitla mountain passes.

Allon said the United Nations would be given a new, wider buffer zone between the opposing armies. The truce zone would range from 11 to 28 miles in width.

The foreign minister said Israel and Egypt reached agreement on one of the touchiest provisions in the pact — the stationing of American volunteers in the Sinai to monitor the truce.

He said Egypt agreed to American civilian technicians manning two early warning stations at the Mitla and Gidi passes. He said the United States would also set up two unmanned electronic stations.

He said Egypt agreed to let the Israelis keep their $150 million Umm Khashiba early warning center on the eastern slope of the Gidi pass. In return, Egypt would be allowed to set up a similar post in its territory.

Voters Turn Down All Eight Propositions

Third Budget Defeat in Ellenville

By Carl Graham

ELLENVILLE

Voters of the Ellenville Central School District had eight chances Monday night to express an opinion on a budget for the 1975-76 school year and the answer was loud and clear —a resounding "no" straight across the board.

Seven separate propositions involving optional budget items and a separate—but meaningless —vote on an austerity budget were involved in the total wipeout as the school board tried for a third time to get a budget approved.

"I don't feel we can go any farther," said Board President Kenneth Beck after the results were tallied in the school gym. "This is an overwhelming mandate from the public."

Proposition No. 1, to spend $115,950 for instructional supplies, books, magazines and rental of muscial instruments, went down by 666 to 641 in the only close vote of the night. Proposition No. 2, to spend $30,886 for interscholastic sports and co-curricular activities, lost by 690-619. Proposition No. 3, calling for $86,250 for transportation of grade school children living more than seventenths and secondary pupils living more than a mile from school, was downed 701-601.

Proposition No. 4, to spend $27,790 for a cafeteria, was defeated 737 to 561. Proposition No. 5, calling for $38,985 for teachers aides, was downed by the largest margin of the night, 832-459. Proposition No. 6, to spend $16,945 for an adult education program, lost by 777 to 515. Proposition No. 7, calling for $4,060 for assemblies, student activities and commencement excercises, was defeated 721-582.

The vote on a $4,929,887 budget also was negative, 713 to 557. Beck said that the vote actually was without meaning since that is the amount that must be spent for a state-mandated contingency (popularly known as an "austerity") budget.

He said the board would meet in special session tonight to discuss possible future courses of action after three defeats for its budget propositions.

"I can't speak for the rest of the board, but my own feelings are not to bring it ouut again," he said. "I was against bringing it out this way, because I don't feel that people should vote on separate propositions. And I was the only board member to vote tot go to austerity immediately."

Supporters of the budget could hardly claim that the turndown was the result of indifference on the part of the public, since the 1,344 turnout was larger than the vote when the budget went down for a second time on July 23.

The voting result puts the fate of interscholastic sports programs at Ellenville in doubt, as it has done in several other districts which opted for austerity budgets. Onlookers in the school gym expressed little hope for support from a laymen's group such as the one trying to save sport programs in the New Paltz district.

Previous votes against the budget were 744 to 501 on June 4 for a $5,242,603 budget and 745 to 483 on July 23 for $5,251,853 budget made slightly larger by interest on bonded indebtedness.

A separate budget proposition for the Ellenville library, which was voted down on both occasions, was eliminated from the ballot this time.

The fishing wasn't too good, but it didn't really matter. Ricky Parise, 9, had more fun fashioning a fishing pole and line from a tree branch and supermarket string in Colorado Springs, Colo., recently in this high contrast photograph. Gravel Pit Operator Coerced, 3 Charged

By Lynn Mulvaney

MARLBORO

An attempt to force a Marlboro man out of his $1 million gravel business by damaging his expensive equipment and shooting up his and two other person's homes and a store with a shotgun, led to the indictment and arrest of three men Monday.

Arrested by Marlboro Police Chief John Esposito in Newburgh were: Joseph Falanga, 57, of 48 DuBois St., Newburgh and Anthony N. Russo, 28, of RD 1 Lattintown Road, Newburgh, both charged with conspiracy, criminal mischief and coercion; and Anthony C. Libretti, 37, of 9A White Gate Apartments, Wappingers Falls, who was charged with perjury in connection with the grand jury investigation.

The trio was arraigned before County Judge Raymond J. Mino Monday morning and released in $2,500 bail each.

Reconstructing the events that led up to the arrests, First Assistant District Attorney Michael Kavanagh said that in May, 1974, Falanga and Russo, attempted to acquire a lease on the Marlboro gravel bank owned by Jack Cutrone and Jack Fellicello and leased by John Mancini, owner of the Standard Aggregate Corporation of Marlboro.

In order to do so, Falanga allegedly recruited Russo, Libretti, Martin Markonic, Daniel Belasco, Paul Graziosi and Paul Ligori in the Newburgh area and transported them by boat to the Standard Aggregate property on May 28 and July 17 where they allegedly inflicted $58,000 in damage to Mancini's heavy and expensive construction vehicles.

It is also alleged that in August 1974 Mancini's home in Highland was peppered with shotgun blasts which damaged a large picture window and that on Sept. 5, 1974, a liquor store co-owned by Mancini and Cutrone was fired at with a shotgun aimed at windows. The Middle Hope Liquor Store on Rt. 9W in Newburgh was unoccupied at the time of the shooting. Kavanagh also alleged that the home of Gus Cutrone, located in front of Jack Cutrone's home was also shot at in a case of mistaken identity. Although the homes that were targets of the shooting were occupied at the time, no one was hurt in the incidents.

District Attorney Francis J. Vogt congratulated Esposito for a thorough investigation of the alleged crimes over the period of a year.

He said the 80-acre gravel bank is of particular value because it contains a special kind of gravel which is considered acceptable for use in the proposed construction of the new Newburgh-Beacon bridge span just south of Marlboro.

Fourth Highest Trade Surplus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States compiled a $977 million trade surplus in July, the fourth highest ever recorded, the Commerce Department reported today.

The healthy surplus — the sixth straight month in the black for the trade ledger — was achieved despite a sharp 13.7 percent increase in imports, primarily crude oil and other petroleum products and foreign made cars.

A trade surplus occurs when the value of goods that a nation ships abroad exceeds the value of imported products. If a nation imports more than it exports, there is a trade deficit.

Not since an eight-month period in 1973-74, has the United States posted such an uninterrupted string of trade surpluses.

The continuing bullish performance by U.S. exporters in the face of continuing heavy reliance on imported oil practically assures a trade surplus for all of 1975.

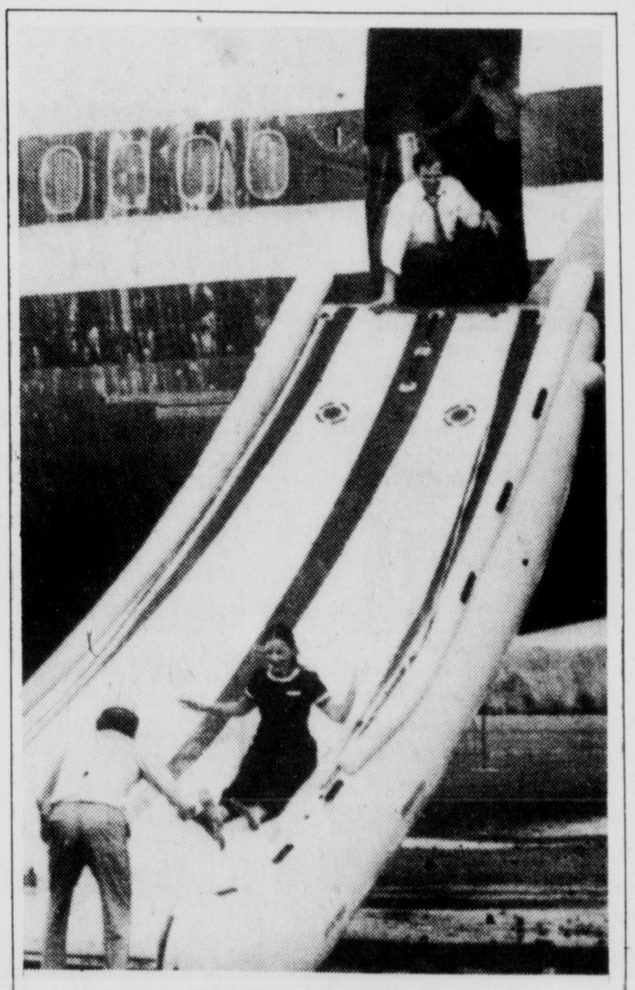

Just a few months ago, many experts were predicting that dependence on foreign oil coupled with a recessionary economy would lead to the fourth trade deficit in the last five years.

For January-July, 1975, the United States has a $6.41 billion surplus compared to a $638 million deficit for the first seven months of 1974.

In July, U.S. import of petroleum jumped $666 million and transportation equipment was up $168 million. Overall, imports rose $953 million — or 13.7 percent — from June, the Commerce Department said.

Exports were up $193 million, or 2.2 percent. The biggest gains were in soybeans, $181 million; motor vehicles and parts, $74 million; wheat, $49 million, and grain sorghums, $42 million.

Even though the $977 million July surplus was high by historical standards, it paled besides June's record $1.74 billion, surplus. In May, exports outran imports by $1.05 billion, in April by $557 million, in March by $1.38 billion and in February by $917 million.

Sliding to Safety

If it looks like fun . . . it wasn't. One of 229 passengers aboard an American Airlines DC10 slides down an emergency chute at New York's JFK airport after the jumbo jet blew a tire and skidded out of control during takeoff Monday afternoon. More than 20 persons sustained slight injuries in the third mishap involving an American Airlines jet in as many days. The San Francisco-bound travelers were flown out, without incident, later Monday afternoon. (UPI)

Court Dismisses Petition To Reinstate Klansman

KINGSTON

The Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan (KKK) in New York State, Earl Schoonmaker Jr. of Pine Bush, who was suspended from his job as an instructor at Eastern Correctional Facility in Napanoch, has lost his Supreme Court fight for reinstatement.

Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staey has dismissed Schoonmaker's petition for reinstatement as a senior institution teacher, the post he held until his dismissal Dec. 20, 1974, following a probe into KKK activity at the correctional facility.

Schoonmaker previously sought and obtained a show cause order signed by the late Justice Edward S. Conway May 29, 1975 and requested that the notices of discipline and suspension be vacated.

Staley has ruled that Schoonmaker's "failure to appeal to arbitration within a requisite time period" bars him from any review of the decision that dismissed him from his post.

Staley said that Schoonmaker had adequate means of reviewing the action taken against him through procedures established in the collective bargaining agreement to which he and the corrections department were subject.

Schoonmaker reportedly was not suspended because he is a member of the KKK. He was suspended for taking into and out of the prison contraband-KKK literature which the New York State Corrections Department considers racist, and thus contraband—and making a personal contract with an inmate, which he is alleged to have done to make some pictures from KKK literature.

The former teacher for high school equivalency diplomas, who earned about $14,000 a year, was reportedly investigated by the Criminal Bureau of Investigation and the FBI after an inmate at the facility was asked to make Klan-inspired paintings and after suspicious fires in the cells of black and Spanish-speaking prisoners.

According to David Eno, a State Corrections Department spokesman in Albany, it is against regulations to make a personal contract with an inmate and klan literature is considered hate literature and thus is contraband in prisons.

Schoonmaker has maintained that there was much emphasis on blacks at the prison, but nothing for whites. He said if blacks have prison courses in black history and black culture, there should be the same for whites. "If they're going to push black culture, they should push white culture."

At the time of his suspension, he said he was KKK's Grand Dragon in New York State. "We're a legal corporation so there isn't much they can do except harass us, and they can harass us all they wish. It will just aid our growth."

Schoonmaker brought his suit against Jerome W. Patterson, superintendent of the State Department of Correction, John W. Burns, director and the Bureau of Labor Relations, Department of Correctional Services. He was represented by Peter Harp of New Paltz. The respondents were represented by Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz.

Governor Waiting Blueprint

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Hugh L. Carey and officials of the Municipal Assistance Corp. waited all day Monday for delivery of Mayor Abraham D. Beame's new fiscal blueprint for New York City — but it never came.

"We're really functioning in a vacuum," an angry MAC spokesman said after a day of meetings between the governor and corporation officials on the city's money worries and the possibility of default on its September bills.

"We were promised a plan by this morning," the spokesman said Monday. "We were told we would have it by 9 a.m. In fact, we were told we would have it all weekend."

Beame and his top budget advisers worked all weekend on the proposal, designed to reduce the city's immediate borrowing needs and chart its fiscal course for the next three years.

However, late Monday night, a Beame spokesman said, "There are many technical areas that still require additional staff work to insure they are reconciled and properly projected. It is our hope that the plan will be completed tomorrow."

The spokesman said the city hoped to arrive at a firm figure on its accumulated budget deficit, which has been widely reported at about $2.8 billion. MAC, created by the state to market bonds on behalf of the city, has fixed the gap at closer to $3.1 billion.

Should the mayor's plan be deemed insufficient to rescue New York from insolvency, there were numerous reports Carey was considering calling a special session of the state legislature to seek emergency powers over the city's pocketbook.

The city's immediate problem is to meet $896 million in operating expenses and principal and interest on notes falling due in September. The crucial date is Sept. 15, when $529 million in outstanding obligations comes due.

The mayor has so far declined to discuss details of his proposal, except to say it included no new taxes over the three year period.

There were reports the plan called for a request for an $800 million advance in state aid but Beame would neither confirm nor deny this.

Carey Creates Post

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — In an effort to cut through "all the bureaucratic red tape," Gov. Hugh L. Carey has created the new position of "industrial coordinator" to help industry in dealings with the state government.

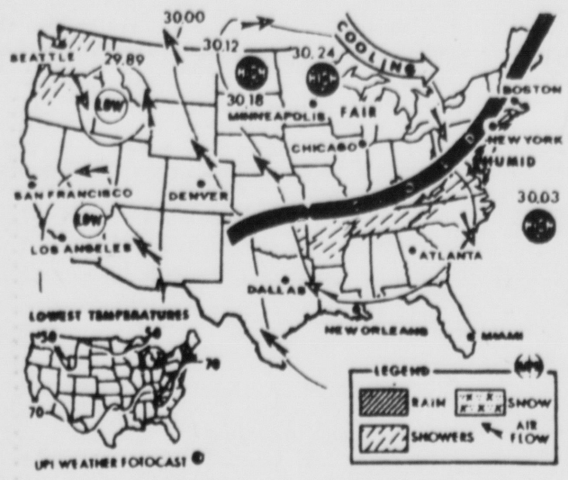

The $40,000-a-year post will be filled by William E. Redmond, 43, of Albany, the former executive deputy commissioner of the Office for Local Government.

In addition, Carey Monday appointed a director and gave orders to a new 26-member state Economic Development Board which he created in March to advise him on economic development policies. Members of the board, representing business, labor and government, serve without salary.

Carey named Richard W. Richardson, an economist who served in the administrations of Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, as executive director of the board at a $45,000 salary.

"Mr. Redmond's assignment is to cut through all the bureaucratic red tape to expedite industrial projects," a statement issued by Carey's public relations office said.

BERZAL AT WORK

Tire Talk Planned

KINGSTON

The Ulster County Environmental Management Council will hold a public informational meeting Wednesday on the recycling of rubber tires.

The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and will be held in the Surrogate's Courtroom on the third floor of the Ulster County Office Building on Fair Street.

The guest speaker will be Vincent Berzal of Saugerties, who recently formed the Berzal Mat Co., which produces a variety of rubber mats from old automobile tires. Berzal will explain the new manufacturing process that will help to reduce the ever increasing problem of rubber tire disposal in our landfills and other areas of Ulster County and at the same time result in a very versatile, durable, safety oriented product," said council chairman Donald C. Bruyn.

At present, some 29,000 tons of obsolete tires are recycled every year into reusable products.

. . . But Small Discrepancies Uncovered

Rosendale Village Audit Finds Fiscal Affairs OK

ROSENDALE

A state audit of the Village of Rosendale has uncovered a number of procedural irregularities, but—unlike an earlier audit of the fiscal affairs of the Village of Saugerties—the state examiners apparently did not find any evidence of missing funds.

The Saugerties audit, released in late July, revealed that more than $5,300 was apparently "lost" in 1973 and 1974. District Attorney Francis J. Vogt has ordered an investigation to determine where those missing funds have gone.

Although the Rosendale audit did uncover some discrepancies in cash receipts and cash disbursements, those discrepancies—which amounted to a relatively small proportion of the overall village budget—were chalked off to poor bookkeeping.

Specifically, the state examiners found that the village's water fund had a true cash balance of $11,664.13 as of May 31, 1974, opposed to $11,138.38 listed in the reports of the village treasurer. That $525.84 difference was explained by understated cash receipts of $37.70 and overstated cash disbursements of $488.14.

The state auditors also uncovered a $3.34 error in the true cash balance of the general fund and a $432.24 error in the trust and agency fund. The latter difference, according to the state report, was due to "bookkeeping errors."

While the state audit found no significant discrepancy in the village's accounts, it did point to a number of areas where the village failed to comply with statutory directives dealing with budget preparation and the collection of taxes.

The seven specific areas cited by the state examiners were:

- "The budget found on file for the fiscal year 1973-74 was not complete in that it did not contain a statement of estimated revenues and a summary to show the amount necessary to be raised by real property tax.
- "A resolution to levy the real property tax for the fiscal year 1973-74 was not found in the recorded minutes of the proceedings of the village board.
- "Collection of taxes has not been enforced beyond tax sale. Taxes of many years on certain parcels of real property have not been paid. A record of tax sale certificates and redemptions was not found.
- "No record was found on file to indicate that the water rents being charged were fixed by law of regulation. Not all delinquent water rents were included in the annual tax levy.
- "A record of bonds and other obligations was not found on file.
- "Part of the proceeds of a bond issue was transferred to and expended from the general fund (Local Finance Law states that bond issue funds shall be used only for the purpose for which the bonds were issued).
- "In each year examined, there was no indication that the board of trustees had audited or caused to be audited the records of the village treasurer."

The fiscal examination, performed by the Department of Audit and Control, covered the period from June 1, 1972 through May 31, 1974. During that time, four separate persons were appointed by the village board to concurrently perform the duties of village treasurer.

The state audit is available for public inspection at the office of the Rosendale Village Clerk.

'Clean Bill' For New Paltz

NEW PALTZ

The Village of New Paltz has come out of a recent state audit with essentially a clean bill of health."

The examination, performed by the Department of Audit and Control for the period June 1, 1972 through May 31, 1974, listed only two areas of possible concern. There was no listing of unaccounted for funds.

Specifically, the state examiners noted that various village accounts were overdrawn on May 31, 1974—including an overdraft in the sewer fund totaling $13,318.45—and that village law forbids any expenditures from overdrawn accounts unless special appropr ations are made to cover the expenditures. The auditors, however, declined to state whether any expenditures were made from those overdrawn accounts before the monies could be replaced.

The other area cited by the auditors dealt with the establishment of a capital reserve fund sometime during 1972-73 for the purpose of financing the acquisition of fire equipment. The auditors noted, however, that they could not find a resolution authorizing the establishment of the capital reserve fund, as required in the General Municipal Laws.

A copy of the state audit is available for public inspection at the village clerk's office.

Grain Situation in U.S. Is Status Quo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany demanded last week that the Ford administration come to him to work out a settlement of a boycott by longshoremen against Russian-bought American grain.

Today Meany was scheduled to meet with Labor Secretary John Dunlop and then with President Ford at the White House.

Presidential spokesman Ron Nessen said Monday night there were no new developments on the grain situation. Spokesmen for Meany and Dunlop said earlier they did not expect an immediate resolution of the dispute.

Sources said Dunlop already has been in contact with Meany and other maritime union leaders since they announced longshoremen would refuse to load nearly 10 million tons of American grain purchased recently by the Russians.

But today's meetings resulted from a telephone call Meany received last week from Ford, who asked him and the maritime union leaders to participate in administration-sponsored negotiations of the issues.

Meany announced last week the longshoremen's boycott would remain in effect until the administration came to him with assurances American consumers and shippers will not be hurt by the sales.

In Corpus Christi, Tex., the West Gulf Maritime Association asked a federal judge Monday to issue a temporary injunction against Texas dockworkers to prevent another work stoppage involving the wheat shipments.

Last week's temporary restraining order, which forced the longshoremen to load grain on a Yugoslav ship bound for Russia, expires Thursday.

Elsewhere, The American Farm Bureau Federation, the Texas Farm Bureau and the Kansas Farm Bureau said they filed secondary boycott charges against the longshoremen with the National Labor Relations Board office in Houston.

Other administration officials were meeting in Washington with Soviet representatives in an effort to set the rate the Russians will pay U.S. shippers to carry some of the grain.

The unions want shippers to get more than the old rate of $9.50 a ton, possibly as much as $15 a ton. Sources indicated U.S. negotiators already had rejected a Russian offer to renew the $9.50 rate.

A U.S.-Soviet maritime agreement, which will be reopened in meetings beginning Sept. 8 in Moscow, provides that American ships will carry one-third of all U.S. grain purchased by Russia. The unions want American ships to carry half the cargo.

The administration has put a moratorium on future grain sales to Russia until their impact on domestic food prices can be determined. But Ford indicated last week the sales will continue after the Agriculture Department issues September crop estimates.

'Real Proud of Betty' . . . President Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford says he's "real proud" of what his wife Betty tried to say, but regrets there might have been some misunderstanding of her comments on sex.

He referred to Mrs. Ford's remarks in a CBS interview in which she said she "wouldn't be surprised" if her daughter Susan, 18, had an affair. The statement aroused some criticism as did her comment in a McCall's magazine interview that if a reporter asked her how often she slept with her husband, she would have said "as often as possible."

Ford said in an interview in Milwaukee Monday he has kidded his wife about her statements but that "she has a good sense of humor" and understood his remarks were in that vein.

Ford explained:

"Let me just again put this in proper perspective. Our family, my wife, our four children and myself are very close. We have a tradition in the family of individual members of the family speaking their mind.

"The family is closely knit. We have great affection and admiration for one another, and certainly I couldn't have had a finer marriage. My wife and I have been married almost 27 years now, and we have a minimum of differences but we have a frank expresssion between ourselves.

"What Betty was really trying to say was because of the closeness of our family and the understanding between children and parents we are deeply concerned about the moral standards by which the family has been raised.

"In that atmosphere, her discussion with anyone of the Ford children are aimed at making sure — positive — that the moral standards that we have lived by and believed in are adhered to.

"I think there unfortunately has been a misunderstanding. We are proud of the family, we think we have a high moral standard within the family, and we are close as a family, and, at the same time, we have a give and take among the children, as well as among ourselves.

"So, I am real proud of what Betty tried to say and I regret that there might have been some misunderstanding of what she said."

Rocky Seeking Southern Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Nelson Rockefeller is spending today and Wednesday courting members of his own party who would rather see someone else on the ticket with President Ford next year.

Rockefeller cut short his Maine vacation to travel to Alabama today and South Carolina Wednesday where party regulars have labeled him too old and too liberal to be an attractive candidate next year.

The trip is Rockefeller's third into the politically hostile South in recent months. As Rockefeller explains the trips: "I'm not campaigning. I just want to prove to them I don't have horns."

Rockefeller addresses a conference of lieutenant governors in Mobile, Ala., tonight. Wednesday he has a breakfast meeting with Alabama Republicans and then flies to South Carolina for a day-long series of meeting with Republicans in Columbia.

He will have a private lunch with Gov. James Edwards of South Carolina, a vocal supporter of conservative Ronald Reagan.

Thirteen southern chairman met during the weekend at Wrightsville Beach, N.C., and indicated they now favor Ford over Reagan to head the ticket. On the subject of the vice presidency, Louisiana GOP Chairman Jim Boyce said his colleagues would prefer "almost anyone over Rockefeller."

Rockefeller claims he is getting along better with conservatives these days. During the weekend he told reporters: "When I sit down with them I find we don't have too much trouble coming to a common ground."

While Rockefeller's trip has political overtones, the vice president insists he will not be campaigning either for himself or on behalf of Ford.

"The new campaign law is very complicated," he told a reporter at Seal Harbor, Me.

"I'll be supporting the President's programs," in the meetings with Republicans, he said. "I will not be campaigning."

RR Plan Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The multibillion-dollar merger plan for bankrupt railroads of the Northeast and Midwest has the support of the Interstate Commerce Commission — with some reservations.

The ICC Monday published a 65-page evaluation of the merger plan drawn up by the U.S. Railway Association, which was established by law primarily to work out the reorganization of debt-plagued lines in the two regions.

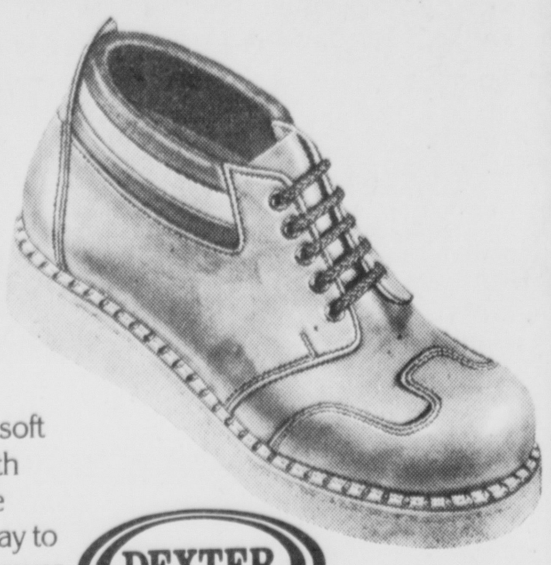

The plan seems often too optimistic about revenues from certain freight, but in general seems a good one to put the lines back on sound footing, the ICC concluded.

The plan was drawn up under provisions of the Regional Rail Reorganization Act of 1973 and was relayed to Congress with the ICC comments.

Under the plan, the "ConRail System" would be established, made up of most of the Penn Central, the Lehigh Valley, the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Lines, plus smaller portions of the Reading and the Ann Arbor.

Many Said Guilty in Deer Death

NEW PALTZ

The Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) report examining the controversial deer possession case that brought widespred attention to a New Paltz rancher and his family last June found no clearcut villain: instead, conservation officers, their immediate superior and Jack LaFalce were all criticized for the role they played in the eventual death of the year-old doe.

But the most startling portion of the 27-page DEC report is an unobtrusive line which suggests that LaFalce, himself, may have been responsible for the death of the deer that he and his family raised from infancy.

The deer was seized and tranquilized by conservation officers on June 11, placed in a wooden crate and transported by pickup truck to the Cranberry Game Management Preserve in southern Dutchess County. The deer died enroute to the state preserve.

The report noted that while the truck was leaving the ranch on South Putt Corners Road, LaFalce unhooked the tailgate and attemted to pull the crate to the ground. The container slid about one-third of the way off the truck, and tipped one or two feet to the side.

The DEC report, emphasizing the importance of the crate remaining upright, states: "Indeed, there is reason to believe that it was at this time that the deer choked to death."

Apart from that lone sentence, the report offers no evidence or justification for the speculation that the deer died when LaFalce tipped the crate.

The report does note, however, that the deer's condition was checked at the DEC's regional office in New Paltz a few minutes after it was removed from the LaFalce ranch. The report states: "There, the back door of the deer container was opened by one technician who removed the dart from the deer's flank and briefly observed the animal which appeared to have calmed down."

A department spokesman said Monday that LaFalce's interference with the removal of the crate was "just one of the possibilities considered" for the deer's death; that the autopsy was unable to pinpoint a time of death. The spokesman also noted that when the animal was checked at the Region III headquarters before the trip to the state game preserve, no determination was made whether it was dead or alive.

The fact that conservation officers did not stop to check the deer's condition between New Paltz and Cranberry Mountain was also a source of criticism in the DEC report. In fact, the basic decision to tranquilize and remove the animal was described as an example of "poor judgment."

The report states: "The factual investigation . . . reveals that the particular handling and removal techniques employed by the Department technicians were contributing factors to the death of the deer. Thus, it would appear that the decision to proceed wth the removal attempt under the circumstances was an error in judgment.

"In particular, the most difficult act to justify is the decision to tranquilize the animal. While it appears that the tranquilizer was properly administered from a technical point of view, the techinicians were aware that a tranquilized deer must be carefully controlled . . . in view of the obvious lack of control which the technicians had over the situation and the care of the animal, it would have been best not to tranquilize the animal and to have withdrawn from the scene until the controversy subsided."

Although the conservation officers and technicians who removed the deer from the LaFalce property were criticized in the report for exercising "poor judgment," they did not receive exclusive blame for the incident.

"An equally serious error in judgment," states the report, "was made by not insuring that supervisory personnel, specifically, the Chief Law Enforcement Officer in the Region (Capt. George Odell) and/or the Regional Director (Warren McKeon) were on the scene at the LaFalce premises during the removal effort." The report states, in essence, that the conservation officers were simply following orders; that the supervisory personnel who gave those orders should have been at the scene to issue new orders when the conflict reached the crisis stage.

The report does not, however, compromise the basic premises that led to seizure of the animal. It states unequivocably that LaFalce possessed the deer in violation of the law, that he knew that a permit was required and that conservation officers acted within the law when they entered his property and seized the animal.

LaFalce was out of town Monday and could not be reached for comment. Norman Kellar, LaFalce's, attorney, said he has not been provided with a copy of the report, and declined comment. He did note that the family is proceeding with a multi-million dollar lawsuit against the state alleging violation of its constitutional rights.

'Stop Passing Buck on Bridge'

SAUGERTIES

Assemblyman Maurice D. Hinchey (D-101st Dist.) called on County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago today to "stop stalling and stop passing the buck" on the Phoenicia Bridge, down since February.

"The responsibility of taking care of the Phoenicia Bridge problem lies squarely with the chairman of the Ulster County Legislature," Hinchey declared.

"He should stop stalling and stop passing the buck and do his job," Hinchey said. "He should see that the money is appropriated to meet the needs of the Phoenicia community."

Hinchey expressed some "surprise" at Legislator Eugene Noe's position on the issue; that more time was needed to get exact figures on the cost, before offering any specific legislation. "He is merely confusing the issue by claiming that the delay is due to the need for factual figures from the state," Hinchey said. "Those figures are readily available to the county."

Hinchey said that his office has been working on the problem since the bridge collapsed under the weight of a large truck six months ago and has ascertained among other things that since the bridge was not on a federal or state system it was not eligible for funding.

He notes, however, that the county has "one million dollars in its authorized bridge construction fund. It should use part of this money to buld a new bridge."

Figures on the cost of repairing the bridge have settled into the $400,000 to $600,000 range.

"The county Bridge and Highway Committee must take care of the problem," Hinchey said. "It is clearly their responsibility."

Hinchey said he has also been working on the Traver Hollow Bridge, since being notified of that problem by Olive Councilman Peter Tosi.

He noted that Route 28-A where it crosses Traver Hollow is not a state road but is owned and maintained by the New York City Board of Water Supply. Hinchey said he has contacted the city's board of water supply; he has contacted New York City legislators for their help and he's been in touch with the State Department of Transportation in Poughkeepsie.

He said it still has not been determined just how badly the bridge has deteriorated nor how much it would cost to fix it. "My office has been working on this on an almost daily basis," he said. "We will continue to stay close to these problems," referring also to the Phoenicia Bridge.

"New York City Board of Water Supply doesn't know if they've got the money to fix the Traver Hollow Bridge," Hinchey said. "The county has the money to fix the Phoenicia Bridge..

"We intend to keep after them and see it through to its conclusion."

Area Teenager Arrested

KINGSTON

Sheriff's deputies credited "good police work" in the arrest of a Bloomington teenager for leaving the scene of an accident in the town of Ulster over the weekend.

Lt. Walter Baschnagel, reporting on the incident, said that the youth, later identifed as Peter Costa, 16, of Taylor Street in Bloomington, ran across the front yard of Herbert Winne late Friday night and sideswiped a pole. Costa, police said, kept going.

Winnie was able to describe the car: a white Chevrolet. (Chevrolet is reportedly the best selling car in the country and white is the most popular color.)

Nevertheless, deputies kept looking and within 14 hours of the incident had Costa in custody. He was arrested at the What's Happening Bar on Route 32 when Deputy Einer Knutsen spotted his white Chevy parked out in front.

Arraigned before Justice Richard Alberstadt, Costa went to jail in lieu of $300 bail on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and driving without a license. He will reappear tonight at 7:30.

Meanwhile, city police are continuing their investigation of a breakin at Island Dock off Abeel Street that resulted in vandalism and burglary to the tune of some $3,000.

Ernest Kidd, the foreman at the plant, called police at 4:45 a.m. Monday morning when he discovered the break-in. Damage was extensive and included 10 broken windows, two shelving units, a broken door, five cans of chemicals, a payloader, a forklift, a desk and a filing cabinet. Stolen was a $300 set of wrenches, sockets and drills and a $150 acetylene torch and fixtures.

Police believe the break-in took place sometime between Sunday afternoon and early Monday morning. Detectives are investigating.

Handicapped—No Relief

Citing "technical reasons," Gov. Hugh L. Carey recently vetoed a bill which would exempt from the sales tax orthopedic appliances such as braces, canes, crutches, walkers and wheelchairs.

Sponsored by Sen. Edwyn Mason of Hobart and Sullivan County's Assemblywoman Jean Amatucci, the bill would have given relief to those who cannot afford taxes . . . the disabled and the handicapped.

Carey did not state his reasons for the veto but Mason has placed the blame directly on the tax department. "These greedy bureaucrats have extended themselves in opposing this bill and through a warped legal interpretation, have deliberately reached out to tax the devices which assist the disabled and handicapped so they can walk and see and lead useful lives.

"Although I don't agree . . . that the language in the bill is defective, I will work with representatives in the governor's office in devising language better acceptable to the bureaucrats, so that this very-much needed legislation can become a reality at the 1976 session," Sen. Mason concluded.

Mason said there is no logical reason to perpetuate the distinction in the sales tax law in exempting hearing aids but not wheelchairs and in exempting eyeglasses but not canes for the blind and the articles needed by those afflicted with diabetes.

We concur with Mason. Braces and wheelchairs in particular are extremely expensive. Taxing a handicapped person for buying a wheelchair is disgraceful.

What about braces for growing children? They must have them changed periodically.

Technical wording or not, the governor made a mistake in vetoeing the bill. We certainly hope that when it is resubmitted at the next session of the legislature, he will affix his signature to it. The bill is clearly needed.

World Puzzles Grow

Pollsters who try to chart the ups and downs of President Ford's standing in the public eye have concluded that he gained some points by his firm response to the seizure of the Mayaguez, but then lost some when the Russian author Alexander Solzhenitsyn began touring America, attacking our government's willingness to go along with the Soviet policy of detente.

If that's the case, it reveals that Americans see their foreign policy as an important issue, which is all to the good. It may also explain why Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is challenging critics of detente to say if they would prefer the "constant crises" of the Cold War.

It is hard to make flat judgments about President Ford's performance in international affairs. He has been at the helm only one year and much of the basic structure of U.S. foreign policy today—and the problems which have overtaken it—are a legacy from his predeccessors. Moreover, he has faced a deliberate attempt by Congress to limit his power to act independently on foreign policy while he remains constitutionally responsible for it.

If some Ameridans are growing confused or disillusioned about where our foreign policy is taking us, one reason surely is that the world is changing, and with it the role that the United States of America can and should play in protecting its interests and the principles it stands for as those changes occur.

Ever since we concentrated our national purpose in the defeat of the Axis powers in World War II, it has been relatively easy to view our foreign policy in terms of supporting "good guys" against obvious "bad guys." The Cold War alliances aimed at containing communism fitted this theme. Lately, however, we have been confronted with issues abroad that do not lend themselves to such simple interpretation.

We have seen the need to balance our commitment to justice for the Jews in Israel with the claim for justice for displaced Palestinians and our other interests in the Middle East. Congress has muddied our relations with Greece and Turkey by trying to oversimplify the Cyprus question on good guy-bad guy terms. We have seen governments veer toward authoritarianism of the right or left in countries we have traditionally regarded as friendly democracies. Many of our allies have been lured into relations with Moscow and Peking that go far beyond our own testing of the water of detente.

Mr. Ford can brace for some ups and downs if the opinion polls are going to reflect the public's perception of successes and failures in foreign affairs. These days, it takes more than a simple "we" and "they" scorecard to follow the game.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Nixon on Mayor Daley: He's a Patriot

By Jack Anderson with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON—The prevailing political lore has Richard Nixon and Richard Daley written down as mortal enemies. According to Republican gospel, the Chicago mayor was to blame for Nixon's presidential loss in 1960.

As knowledgeable Republicans tell it, Daley "stole" the 1960 election from Nixon by stuffing the ballot boxes for John F. Kennedy in greater Chicago. This supposedly cost Nixon the crucial votes that lost Illinois and, thereby, the nation.

But whatever sleight-of-hand Daley may have executed with the 1960 ballot count, the former President doesn't hold it against him. We have the word of witnesses who heard Nixon say so.

Not even the men around Nixon knew how their boss felt about Daley until the Saturday after the 1970 congressional elections. They were gathered at the Key Biscayne, Fla., presidential retreat for a political post-mortem.

It was a back-stabbing session, with the likes of H.R. Haldeman, John Ehrlichman, Charles Colson and John Mitchell proposing appropriate punishments for their political enemies.

Mitchell brought up Daley's name. The time for etribution had come, he suggested, for the 1960 transgression. As attorney general, Mitchell promised happily that the mayor would be "cut to shreds" by a Justice Department investigation. Obviously, Mitchell expected an approving comment from the President. But there was dead silence; Nixon was impassive. The conversation started to move uneasily to another subject.

Then Nixon spoke. Witnesses recall his emphatic word. He said: "Dick Daley always met me when I came to Chicago. In 1968, he rode in from the airport with me. Oh, he's a brass-collared Democrat. But he's a patriot. He has always supported me whenever the country was at stake, and I don't care if he's a Democrat or a Republican, I like him."

It is a matter of record that the Justice Department ripped into the Daley political machine. But "hizzoner," for some reason, was never touched.

TAINTED TRANSCRIPTS: The House intelligence committee is now investigating our charges that inaccurate FBI transcripts have jeopardized the rights of the accused in federal prosecutions.

Chairman Otis Pike, D.-N.Y., has sent two lawyers, Tim Oliphant and Dick Vermeire, to examine over a hundred pages of transcripts, which the FBI has stamped as "Evidence" in criminal investigations.

We have already checked these transcripts against the original tapes. We found more than 30,000 errors, many of them serious. Working with us was Washington's celebrated private eye, Dick Bast, who is now assisting the congressional attorneys.

Meanwhile, we have also examined the transcripts that were used to help convict Oklahoma's former Gov. David Hall and codefendant W.W. "Doc" Taylor of attempted bribery charges.

Using a simple $29 casette player, made in Taiwan, we were able to detect hundreds of errors in the transcripts. One government transcript, for example, quotes the governor as telling his secretary of state, John Rogers: "I want you to do something that will help us both and . . . (inaudible)."

But when we listened, we heard Hall clearly say: ". . . and won't have anything to do with the state." In other words, the governor wasn't asking Rogers for a favor that had anything to do with his state duties. Yet not until the two defendants were well on their way to conviction was an amended FBI transcript made available, with an accurate transcription of the inaudible phrase.

But other mistakes were never corrected. For example, the government charged that an attorney named Kevin Mooney had sought to bribe Rogers on defendant Taylor's behalf. Rogers is heard on the tape demanding bribe money from Mooney is exchange for letting Taylor handle the investment of $10 million in state pension funds.

In a clear voice, Mooney states that Taylor was "most concerned and pretty much shook up" at the idea of a bribe. But the government transcript makes it read that Taylor was "less concerned and pretty much sure" to pay the bribe.

Again, Mooney declares "I can't" pay the bribe. But the transcript reads, "All right now," which gives exactly the opposite meaning.

Mooney is also heard on the tape as warning Rogers that a cash bribe "would ruin you and him." But the government transcript omits this crucial statement as "unintelligible."

Once again, Mooney tells Rogers flatly that "I ain't in this," meaning he wants nothing to do with the bribe attempt. But this is also marked "unintelligible."

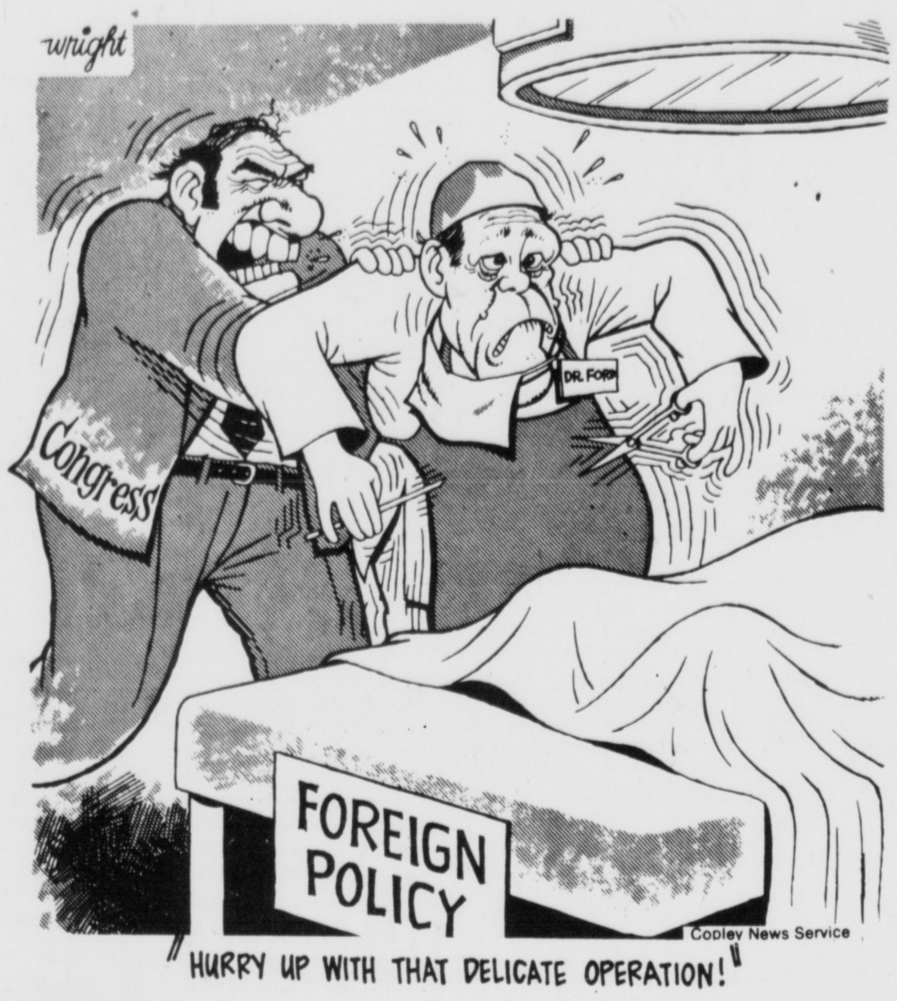

Finally, Rogers demands: "Are you going to pay me or not?" We heard Mooney reply clearly: "I wouldn't." Yet his answer, according to the government, is "unintelligible."

Another time, Mooney declares that Taylor is aware he would be "disobeying the F... law.". be "disobeying the f--- law." to pay cash. Yet this is recorded in the official transcript as "he's just being a f--- liar."

In addition to the errors, there are long, unexplained gaps in the tapes, some sounding suspiciously like erasures.

Yet the FBI certified the accuracy of the final transcripts, the Justice Department used them at the trial and federal Judge Fred Daugherty, though he barred them as evidence, allowed them to be used in cross-examination and arguments.

U.S. Attorney William Burkett, the prosecutor, admitted to us that even the FBI-approved tapes contained numerous errors. He insisted, however, that the errors did not affect the outcome since the jurors were able to listen to the scratchy tapes for themselves. A veteran lawyer at the Justice Department told us that someone should be "hung" if the errors were made intentionally.

Mexican President Woos the West

By William F. Buckley

MEXICO CITY — By the standards of the Third World, the United States is miserably inhospitable to visiting chiefs of state. Way back there in our brief and glorious history, a shrewd Yankee president, or Secretary of State, designed the modest dimensions of Blair House to care for a diplomatic entourage of ten or twelve people, max. President Echeverria of Mexico couldn't begin to fit his bustling entouragé into Blair House: they would have to pitch tents outside. He would get a state dinner at the White House, another dinner centered around the Secretary of State, possibly a third at which he would act as host; then, if he wants to go to California to see Disneyland, somebody from the State Department would escort him there. But that's it. Luis Echeverria, following a tradition of hospitality one associates with the reception of Marco Polo, is on the last leg of a 14-nation tour that has taken him to China, to the Vatican, to countries in between, and now, finally, to Cuba.

Echeverria uses language difficult for normal people to understand. His lieutenants buzz about Mexico surreptitiously, using the standard phrase to explain it all: "Hay que quitarles sus banderas" — You've got to take their flags away from them. This is supposed to mean that if, as the president of Mexico, you use lustfully the rhetoric of the class struggle, of anti-Americanism, anti-capitalism, and the anti-multi-nationals (they call them "trans-nationals"), you deprive your left critics of the means of hitting you. It is the analogue of the 19th century formula used by British conservatives to appease their own ranks while pandering to the opposition: "Tory rhetoric, Whig measures." The trouble is that much of Mexico believes that whatever it is Echeverria intends with the use of his left-rhetoric, he is in fact inducing a left-mindedness among his people which will not be easily deflected from doctrinaire socialism.

Consider his appearance in Havana last week, given treatment in the Mexican press comparable to the coronation of Queen Elizabeth, the sinking of the fleet at Pearl Harbor, and the landing of the first astronaut on the moon. Echeverria actually said, on landing in Havana, that he was paying tribute to the "solidarity" of Latin America; whereas, of course, the historical fact is that Mexico, alone, refused to close ranks with Latin America in the boycott of Castro voted by Latin Americans in 1964, back when Castro was amusing himself by sending men with hand grenades to blow up Latin American officials he disapproved of.

Then Echeverria said that, under Castro, Cuba was a "happy" country, which had recovered its "dignity" — this about a country ten per cent of whose population, at considerable risk to life and limb, and total sacrifice of life savings, fled Cuba in order to spare themselves the kind of happiness you get in a totalitarian country in which you cannot own a Coca-Cola stand in your own name, or read a book or a newspaper that questions the saintliness of the dictator.

Castro was so moved by Echeverria's tarmac tribute to him and his tormented little island that he announced on the spot that he would personally accompany Echeverria during every moment of his four-day tour, a prospect which under normal circumstances would have caused Echeverria to blanche — four days for an ideological wheeler-dealer in a jeep with Castro is rather like four days in a confessional with Savanarola: except that Echeverria isn't allowed to pale while courting the Third World, though perhaps he has cultivated a dark blush.

Poor Echeverria. Poor Mexico. It is a lovely country, with lovely people of great dignity, and with some, not uningenious ways of contriving to have their cake, and eat it too. Echeverria's admiration for the totalitarianism of Castro's Cuba was perhaps just a little incontinent, and in any case hardly consistent with the stigmata that spout great gushers of blood on his hands and side every time a Chilean leftist is detained on the suspicion that he seeks to introduce Castroite totalitarianism to Chile. But the Partido Revolucionario Institutional — the Bourbon dynasty of Mexico — has the country very nicely in hand, and the absence of effective political dissent is countenanced rather philosophically by the Mexican establishment, most of the dissenters included.

It is not unappreciated that, in Mexico, there is genuine political stability, a rare commodity in Latin America, and that this has meant a remarkable increase in per capita wealth in virtually all economic seasons. But that stability has required an epicene political opposition. The most critical paragraph I was able to find of Echeverria's encomium to Cuban totalitarianism, in the most anti-Communist paper in the capital, El Heraldo, is a monument to docility. If they had stuck one more ounce of cotton candy in that editorial writer's mouth, I do believe he would have gagged, which would have been an improvement.

Inside Report

Blame It on Bo

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON—As a Ronald Reagan challenge for the momination grows more likely, influential supporters of President Ford—including some senior White House aides—are mounting a backstage effort to ease Howard H. (Bo) Callaway out of effective control of his campaign.

The privately voiced indictment: partly because of bungling the Rockefeller problem, campaign manager Callaway has failed to sign up enough Southerners and other conservatives for the Ford campaign to dissuade Reagan from running. Since Callaway is more political salesman than political organizer, his critics continue, he should be now replaced—in fact rather than in name — for the Ford-vs.-Reagan struggle in the primaries.

But Callaway's difficulties have deeper roots. Callaway is partly the innocent victim of a long-lived power struggle within the Ford White House. More important, criticism of Callaway has risen directly proportional to Mr. Ford's political slump following the Solzhenitsyn affair, the Helsinki conference and his wife's television interview. With the White House euphoria of two months ago now vanished, there is a tendency there to blame it on Bo.

Actually, the President's first choice for campaign manager was his crony and adviser, Melvin R. Laird. Reveling in his freedom as a globe-girdling Reader's Digest executive, Laird turned him down —a rejection that personally hurt Mr. Ford, according to close aides.

Next, the idea that Callaway resign as Secretary of the Army to run the campaign came from Donald Rumsfeld, the powerful White House staff chief. That confirmed Rumsfeld's success in seizing campaign oversight from Robert Hartmann, the President's political counselor. Bt it also transferred to Callaway hostility from Rumsfeld's regiment of enemies inside the White House—perhaps including Hartmann.

Rumsfeld's critics quickly had an opportunity to complain about his chosen campaign manager. Instead of just hinting to conservatives that Vice President Nelson Rockefeller might be dumped from the ticket, Callaway went too far in assaulting Rockefeller. The result: the President overcompensated, virtually endorsing Rockefeller as his running-mate— a major talking point for Reagan forces wooing conservatives.

The Rockefeller blunder is not the only basis for backstage criticism of Callaway. He is privately censured for not hiring a press aide, for publicly asserting that the President trails Reagan in New Hampshire and the South (an assertion which irked Mr. Ford himself) and for not seeking more advice from longtime Ford political associates.

But many insiders come down hardest against Callaway for selecting Lee Nunn as his director of organization. Old pro Nunn has excellent credentials among conservatives but is stigmatized for having been finance vice chairman of CREEP, Richard M. Nixon's notorious 1972 campaign organization.

Nunn joined the Ford campaign July 28 without a press release and with so little attention that many politicians are still not aware he is on board. But on Aug. 2 over CBS News, Lesley Stahl interviewed Watergate investigator David Dorsen, who asserted Nunn's solicitation of up to $750 million for CREEP, while not criminal, "was highly questionable and perhaps close to the line."

Since then, Callaway has displayed the exuberance, aggressiveness and charm that have been his political trademarks in Congress and the Pentagon. Local Ford supporters give him high marks in boosting the President on the road (mainly, so far, in California, Ohio and Florida).

Even without the Rockefeller blunder, locking up the conservative South for Mr. Ford would have been a mission impossible for Callaway. Clarke Reed, veteran Mississippi state chairman, has used his formidable influence to keep fellow Southerners uncommitted—a task eased by Mr. Ford's snub of Solzhenitsyn and Mrs. Ford's comments on morality, tangential events deeply disturbing to conservatives but certainly not Callaway's fault.

Blameless or not, Callaway now confronts a state-by-state primary campaign against Reagan which even friends doubt he is equipped to manage. Considering his CREEP pedigree, Lee Nunn lacks nationwide acceptability.

But giving effective management of the primary campaigns to a party proposes two difficult questions: how can this new manager be slipped into a structure top-heavy with Callaway and Nunn? Who can be found with experience and skill to rival John Sears, the Reagan manager? F. Clifton White, the old mastermind of Republican primary politics and an ex-Reaganite, prefers Mr. Ford this time and is frequently consulted by Callaway but will not take a full-time post.

The easy way out is for Reagan to opt for the good life on his ranch in Santa Barbara instead of running. Thus, the Ford campaign idles awaiting Reagan's decision, while the President's men quarrel over how much Bo Callaway is to blame for Mr. Ford's decline.

'Home Is Wherever We Are' Says Husband-Wife Team

By Dorothy A. Narel

WOODSTOCK

Celeste Holm and Wesley Addy are warm, friendly people who share a lot of things together — a happy marriage, successful careers and Galeridge Farm in Northern New Jersey. They love all of it.

They also maintain an apartment in New York because, as Miss Holm puts it, "That's where the piano is." Actually she feels home is wherever they are.

The award-winning actress was born in New York. Her mother was a portrait painter and designer. Some of the baby patterns she designed for Vogue Magazine are still being carried today. "I wore most of those designs," Celeste told LIFE in an interview.

Miss Holm's father, Theodor Holm, a Norwegian, was head of Lloyds of London in the states for 22 years.

"He was the man who decided who's fault it was and who got paid!"

No one in the Holm family objected to Celeste's choice of a career. "My parents liked it just fine — they were sophisticated people. They also knew a girl could get into trouble anywhere if she made her mind up to it."

The stage, TV and screen star told LIFE that all the women in her family had professions. She, herself, started to study ballet at age 13 and voice at 12. About ways you become an actress, she said:

"Helen Hayes once said the way to be an actress is to sit home and wait for a telegram. Well, today it's a telephone call."

Asked her opinion about critics, she said: "It depends upon the critic. I've seen the New York Times close a show and I think it's rather sad the American people can't make up their own minds."

On the subject of family entertainment vs. pornography, Wes Addy pointed out:

"I think porno entertainment will always play to a certain type of audience but general interest in it is going to diminish. It has already happened in Denmark where it started in the first place.

"You know, it's like ice skating — you eventually get tired of doing figure 8's."

An interview with two top personalities.

Both actors agree they suffer from opening night jitters. Wes Addy says a lot depends upon the audience. His wife said: "You know what's at stake — particularly when your name is up there."

The female lead in Woodstock's current play And Nothing But is also a good cook. Her husband vouches for that. While Addy admits he is not a gourmet chef, he says:

"Celeste is a great pick-up cook — she can make something out of whatever is in the refrigerator."

They both laughed about the time Celeste attempted to prepare tuna napes. The actress said: "It was a total disaster!" Wes agreed.

Since her mother designed clothes, it would be natural for Celeste Holm to have opinions on the subject. She does. She is, first of all, depressed about the fact that "we belong to a blue jeans society. But what's worse is that they are tattered, rumpled and dirty. It shows how these people feel about themselves and each other," she said.

As for long, unkempt hair on men, she stated emphatically: "I think men with woolly hair growing out of their ears are — well — like one vast unshaven arm pit!"

Both stars lead extremely busy lives. Addy is cast as Andrew Jackson in the Adams Chronicles, an historian series which will be seen on Channel 13 for 10 weeks beginning in January. The two will continue on stage at Woodstock Playhouse in the hit comedy And Nothing But through Sunday, Aug. 31.

In September, Celeste Holm is scheduled to do a film in Hollywood for TV's Wonderful World of Disney. She's going to portray the part of a horsewoman and the story concerns the horse, a rooster and a little girl. She has been quoted as saying: "I suspect the horse and the rooster will have the best parts. You know Disney."

With their work cut out for them, and since Addy is a top flight Shakespearean actor, LIFE asked him: if he had only one choice between types of roles, which one would he select. His immediate answer was:

"FARMING!"

End of interview with two great personalities.

Quarryman's Museum Open at Opus 40

Visitors to Opus 40 in High Woods, Saugerties, next Sunday will have an opportunity to see an unusual museum, the Quarryman's Museum. The opening of Opus 40 to the public on August 31 from 1 to 5 p.m. will be for the benefit of the Children's Rehabilitation Center in Kingston.

The Museum was started two years ago, and today it is a handsome, beam structured building housing a fascinating variety of tools used by quarrymen in the occupation that was distinctive of Ulster County 100 years ago. There are still curbs and sidewalks of bluestone in New York City that were quarried in Ulster County.

Harvey Fite, sculptor of Opus 40, accumulated the collection of tools from many sources. The idea for a museum started with his own interest in the objects he used in the construction of his magnificent, wide-ranging Opus 40 art form, as he observed the beauty as well as the function of the tools.

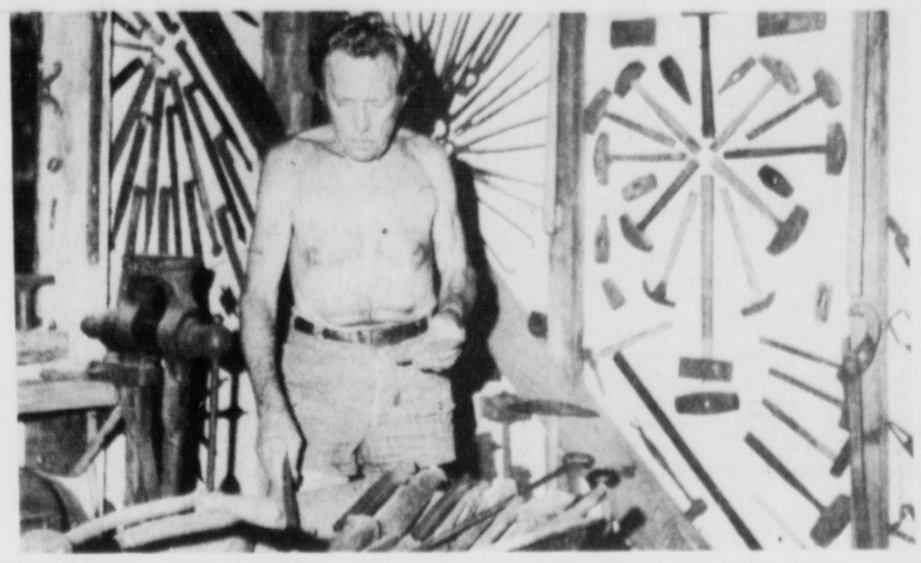

"Tools," Fite pointed out, "were man's response to dealing with his environment. Since they were all originally handmade and served the specific need of men working by themselves, tools offer an insight into the marked creative and inventive ability of those unknown craftsmen."

Opus 40 itself provides an opportunity to see the virtually fluid representation of an artist's genius, and visitors will be well repaid for their efforts. Highlighting this year's Opus 40 benefit will be performances by two groups, one a woodwind quintet; the other a duo who will offer dramatic readings of Under Milkwood.

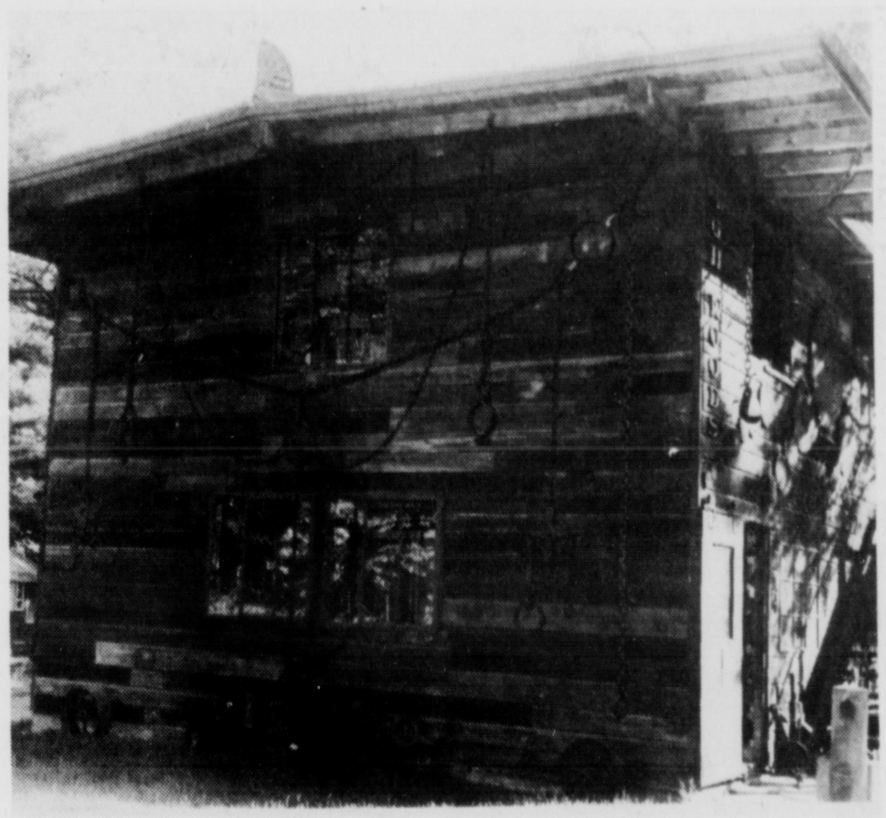

Opus 40 is located in High Woods, Saugerties, and can be reached from Kingston and other areas south via 9W and the Glenerie Bridge. From Saugerties west, and Woodstock south on Route 212, the turning is the Glasco Turnpike. Signs will be posted to acquaint drivers with the route.

There will be ample parking and refreshments.

In the event of rain, the next date will be September 1.

Reader Confused By Difference in Doctors

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: What's the difference between a psychiatrist and a psychologist? They are both called "doctor." Can you tell me without using a lot of big words?

F.A.

DEAR F.A.: I'll try. A psychiatrist is also a PHYSICIAN and, as such, has a degree in medicine. A psychologist does not.

They both treat people with emotional and mental problems, however.

A psychiatrist (because of his medical credentials) is licensed to prescribe drugs to his patients. A psychologist is not.

DEAR ABBY: Five years ago, our daughter-in-law (Nell) divorced our son, saying she was going to marry a very rich man. Our son was all broken up because he and Nell had two little girls, ages 7 and 9.

After the divorce, the girls went to live with their mother, and our son took them for weekends and holidays, and maintained a wonderful relationship with them.

Now our son is marrying a fine young woman. She loves our granddaughters, and they love her. The girls (now 11 and 13) have been invited to the wedding, but Nell is raising a big fuss, saying they may not go because it is "improper."

Where was Nell's sense of propriety when she left our son for a married man (also with a family) who hasn't married her yet — and no doubt never will?

Please reply soon.

GRANNY

DEAR GRANNY: Her sense of propriety was apparently out to lunch. She is mistaken. There is nothing improper about the girls attending their father's wedding.

DEAR ABBY: Our problem is an unusual one. My husband's parents have recently adopted a boy of 10, and they have decided (with the boy's permission) to change the boy's name.

Michael Joseph is my father-in-law's name. My husband, now in his early 20s, was named "Michael Joseph" after his father.

Now listen to this: My father-in-law wants to name his newly adopted son "Michael Joseph" after himself. The excuse my father-in-law has for naming two sons after him is that my husband is called "Mike" (a natural nickname for Michael), but this new son, his father insists, will be called "Michael" or "Junior."

Are we being childish in objecting to another son in the family having the same name as my husband?

It will be terribly confusing because we all live in the same city.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: It would appear that your father-in-law is on an ego trip. You are not childish; your father-in-law is.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. IN ATLANTA: Some people who come for the inheritance wind up paying for the funeral.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132, Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Exploratory Surgery Today for Slayton

HOUSTON (UPI) — Astronaut Donald "Deke" Slayton waited more than a decade for a chance to fly in space. He originally was grounded because of a heart irregularity but fought the ruling and finally triumphed to become the nation's oldest space captain.

Today, Slayton faces a possible medical battle of a different sort. He is undergoing an exploratory lung operation at one of the nation's leading cancer hospitals to investigate a small lesion in his left lung.

Doctors told Slayton there was a better than 50 percent chance the lesion is cancer.

Slayton, 51, last active member of the original team of seven Mercury astronauts, entered M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute Monday night for the operation today.

Even if the lesion is cancerous, Slayton should be able to fly in space again, doctors said.

Slayton was grounded from his original chance to fly in space in 1962 because of the heart irregularity problem.

Dr. Cliff Mountain heads a team of physicians preforming the surgery. Mountain will cut a tiny slice from the lesion, which is the size of a pencil eraser. Pathologists in the operating room will determine if the growth is malignant.

If it is benign, doctors will close the incision and no further surgery will be necessary, said Dr. Arnauld Nicogossian, Slayton's flight surgeon. However, if it is malignant, doctors will try to remove the damaged cells and, at the worst, they will remove the lower lobe of his lung.

Slayton and his crewmates on last month's joint mission with two Soviet cosmonauts underwent final post-flight examinations Monday.

Nicogossian said Slayton, Thomas Stafford and Vance Brand suffered no lingering problem from poison gas they breathed during their return to earth July 24. The pilots were hospitalized for five days following splashdown because caustic nitric acid fumes seared their lungs.

Space agency physicians said there was no connection between the fumes and Slayton's lesion. The extensive X-rays and examinations performed because of the fumes brought the lesion to doctors' attention.

Integration Classes For Boston Teachers

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston teachers today are back at school preparing for the second phase of court-ordered school desegregation which begins Sept. 8.

Voluntary workshops to explain the desegregation program to teachers began Monday, with 3,149 of an expected 4,136 teachers attending. A teachers' union official predicted many of those teachers not attending Monday would show up later in the week.

U.S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr., who ordered the busing, ordered the workshops. The teachers are to be paid overtime for their voluntary attendance.

The workshops discussed new surroundings, students, parents and programs. About 24,000 students will be bused between 163 of of the city's 200 schools this fall. About 18,000 students were bused last year under a partial desegregation order.

Garrity Monday rejected a school department plan to have blacks take public transit to white schools while whites took chartered buses to black schools. He said all should take public transit.

He said he disagreed with the apparent premise of the plan, that it was safe for blacks to walk through white neighborhoods, but not for whites to walk in black neighborhoods.

Garrity delayed until Wednesday further consideration of the hiring of black teachers in the system. He noted a smaller student population has decreased the number of teachers in the system, and that there will be fewer black teachers this year than last.

He also said Monday he was still considering a U.S. Civil Rights Commission report suggesting placing the Boston School Committee in receivership because of its members negative attitude towards desegregation.

He said he will ask lawyers in the case Wednesday or Thursday to tell him how long they think it will take to draft comments on the commission suggestion.

Bella Eyes Senate Tests Upstate Waters

SOUTH GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (UPI) — In another tour to test the upstate political waters, Rep. Bella Abzug (D-N.Y.) repeatedly told reporters she is being "propelled" to run for the U.S. Senate next year.

The fiery Democratic lawmaker has not oficially announced plans to challenge Conservative-Republican James Buckley for his Senate seat, but she said she was "being propelled in that direction very forcefully."

Ms. Abzug was in Rochester Sunday, en route to an Ontario County Democratic picnic in Phelps.

And despite fog and late flights Monday, she nonetheless toured a Glens Falls paper mill and met with reporters and local Democrats at the United Electrical Workers headquarters here later.

The visits and talks with local party leaders are seen as an apparent attempt to gauge support for her expected Senate run.

She said both upstate and downstate Democrats were urging her to challenge Buckley, adding that "people are very much into having someone speak for them, telling them how they have to organize, to fight for what they want."

Her text on the upstate visits is a familiar one.

Ms. Abzug has criticized the administration's handling of economic problems: "His (Ford's) economic policy is being guided by the ghost of Herbert Hoover."

She also has been demanding more public service jobs and more Social Security.

Several persons carrying anti-abortion placards picketed Ms. Abzug's appearance at the Ontario County Democratic gathering Sunday but she told reporters Monday that she did not believe her outspokeness on abortion and also on amnesty would hurt any campaign.

Probation for Priest Who Aided Jail Break

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Roman Catholic priest has been placed on five years probation after pleading guilty to aiding seven major drug dealers' escape from the Federal House of Detention.

Federal Court Judge Henry F. Werker imposed the sentence Monday on Father John J. Tirella before a courtroom packed with the clergyman's friends and 20 priests from his Franciscan order.

Tirella, 55, pleaded guilty to smuggling an envelope containing key molds out of the now-closed jail where he was a chaplain and bringing it to a locksmith.

According to the indictment, the locksmith then made keys to the jail which were smuggled in by a guard, enabling the narcotics dealers to escape. Six are still at large.

Tirella, a priest for 35 years and known for his work with alcoholics, drug addicts and the poor while assigned to a parish in lower Manhattan, has said he was unaware of what was being smuggled although entering a guilty plea.

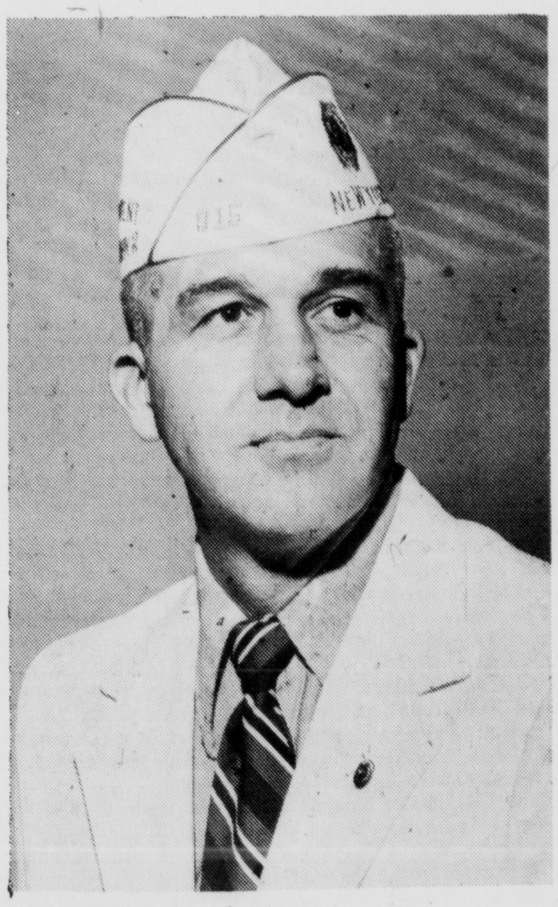

In handing down the sentence, the judge told Tirella he had disgraced his order and "made suspect every chaplain in every correctional facility in the United States."

But the judge added, "I attribute your actions to a misguided zeal, a sort of Robin Hood operation. I doubt if you knew of this conspiracy and I doubt that you had known of the contents of this letter."

Tirella, who could have been sentenced to 10 years in jail, was hugged by spectators as he left the courtroom.

The judge ordered Tirella to continue in the ministry and to refrain from visiting jails and associating with persons connected with organized crime.

He was relocated to the Friary of Our Lady of Mount Carmel in Watervliet, N.Y., near Albany and has been assigned to the Office of Health and Social Services in the Diocese of Albany.

Swing Low, Sweet Evonne

Pittsburgh Triangles Evonne Goolagong Cawley swings at a low return during women's singles of the WTT championship final Monday at the Civic Arena in Pittsburgh. Trinagles defeated the Golden Gaters, 21-14. (UPI)

Evonne Looks to Forest Hills

By UPI

Evonne Goolagong Cawley quietly drank champagne Monday night, toasting herself as the queen of team tennis.

But the bubbly will taste a lot better in 12 days if she can assert herself as queen of the clay courts...where Chris Evert presently rules — and rules with a tight-lipped pride.

Both women were winners Monday night as they geared up for Forest Hills, which gets underway Wednesday and stretches out for a week and a half. Mrs. Cawley devastated Betty Stove 6-2 to spark the Pittsburgh Triangles to a 24-21 victory over the Golden Gaters and the World Team Tennis title while Miss Evert humiliated Virginia Wade 6-0, 6-1 in just 47 minutes to capture the Westchester Women's Classic.

Miss Evert's crushing of Miss Wade projected the importance of Mrs. Cawley's presence at Forest Hills: it's beginning to look as if Evonne is the only one left who can give Chrissie a go for the money.

Miss Evert is the top seed at Forest Hills and Miss Wade is No. 2. But the way the Briton folded on clay to Chrissie, one has to wonder if anybody can stop the Evert express.

On clay Chrissie is virtually unstoppable and, for the first time, Forest Hills will be played on clay. Incidentally, the U.S. Open is about the only jewel still missing from the Evert trophy case.

"I wouldn't want to say this is Chris Evert's year," Chrissie commented, "but I think since Forest Hills is on clay I have a better chance of winning than if it was on grass. I won't say this is Chris Evert's year until it's over and we see if I've won or not."

The last time Miss Evert lost on clay was in July of 1973 — 75 matches ago. She fell that time to Evonne, who was single and known as Miss Goolagong at the time.

"If I bet," offered Martina Navratilova, the third seed at Forest Hills, "it would be on Chris to win it. Then Evonne in the other half. I'd like to think I could make the semifinals and Virginia possibly the other semifinalist."

"There's Chris Evert...and then there's another level below that, such as Martina, Margaret Court, Virginia Wade, myself," praised Australian Dianne Fronholtz, who lost last week to Miss Evert in the U.S. Clay Court championship finals.

Where Mrs. Cawley fits in is probably at the other end of the cour when Miss Evert steps up to the base line for the championship.

At the $100,000 U.S Pro Championships at Brookline, Mass., Bjorn Borg and Guillermo Vilas advanced into the finals with impressive four-set triumphs. Borg staved off John Alexander 6-3, 6-7, 6-3, 6-0 while Vilas turned back Arthur Ashe 4-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-4.

The two will meet tonight for first place and the $16,000 first prize.

At South Orange, N.J., rain again postponed the championship match of the $50,000 Tennis Week Open between Ilie Nastase and South Africa's Bob Hewitt. It has been washed out since Sunday.

Nastase has the honors of playing the first ever match under the lights at Forest Hills Wednesday night when he takes on Australian Geoff Masters.

Chris Is at Her Peak

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI) — Chris Evert took the wraps off her "new philosophy" of playing loose onls two days away from the U.S. Open title that she wants more than anything else, and wiped out the Forest Hills second seed to push her year's winnings so far past $250,000.

"I don't think I can play much better than that," she said after crushing Virginia Wade of Britain, 6-0, 6-1, in a 47-minute singles final at the Westchester Women's classic Monday as a warmup to the Forest Hills title she has never won.

"I wouldn't want to say this is Chris Evert's year," said the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 20-year-old who first broke into tennis big-time four years ago as the youngest every semifinalist in the U.S. championship.

But Forest Hills is on clay this year for the first time, a surface on which Chris has no equal.

She admits that the past five weeks of tournament play — including victories in the U.S. CLay Court championships at Indianapolis and Monday's Westchester title, also on clay — have been "practice" for the big one.

"I think since Forest Hills is on clay I have a better chance of winning than if it was on grass," she said.

"But I wouldn't say this is Chris Evert's year until it's over and we see if I've won or not."

The other stars entered in Forest Hills hold up Chris as the one to beat.

Martina Navratilova, 20, Czechoslovakia and seeded third in the U.S. open, said: "If I bet it would be Chris to win it. Then Yvonne (Googalong Cawley) in the other half. I'd like to think I could make the semifinals and Virginia (Wade) possibly the other semifinalist."

Rooker Hoping to Make Amends

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer

Jim Rooker, who blames himself for the Pittsburgh Pirates' failure to run away with the National League East, figures there's still time to make amends.

Rooker, who won 15 games a year ago in helping the Pirates win the National League East, has been very erratic for most of this year, but with five weeks to go in the pennant race he looms as a key figure in Pittsburgh's chances to repeat as division winners.

That is, if he pitches the way he did Monday night when he blanked the Atlanta Braves on three hits while leading the Pirates to a 4-0 victory.

The 32-year-old left-hander, bothered by control trouble for much of the season, walked only one and struck out four in posting his 10th victory against nine losses. The victory enabled the Pirates to remain three games ahead of Philadelphia.

"Since I've been here, I've always had good control, but earlier this year I was wild and I'm not the kind of pitcher who can work behind the batters," said Rooker. "I feel I've let the club down 'cause if I had the year that was expected of me we'd be three or four games farther out in front. Maybe I was just lazy. You have to discipline yourself out there."

Willie Stargell, still bothered by a cracked rib, supported Rooker with a pair of run-scoring singles as the Pirates tagged rookie Mike Thompson with his fifth loss in as many decisions.

"The cracked rib is going to bother me for a while," said Stargell, who returned to the lineup Sunday after an absence of 12 days. "It's not going to go away so I try not to think about it. Besides, I never was smart enough to think about two things at once. When I'm out there I have to concentrate on the game. I can really feel the pain when I swing and miss so it's nice to make contact."

In other NL action, Philadelphia defeated Los Angeles 4-2, New York blanked San Diego 4-0, Cincinnati crushed Chicago 11-4 and St. Louis and Houston was called by rain after 10 innings with the score tied 3-3.

Cleveland whipped Chicago 5-1, Texas blanked Detroit 1-0 and Minnesota beat Milwaukee 6-3 in the only American League games. Baltimore at Kansas City was rained out.

Phillies 4, Dodgers 2

Mike Schmidt tied for the major league lead with his 31st homer and Greg Luzinski increased his major league-leading rbi total to 103 with a pair of run-scoring singles as the Phillies defeated the Dodgers to remain three games behind Pittsburgh in the NL East. Gene Garber was the winner in relief while Andy Messersmith was charged with his 13th loss in 27 decisions.

Mets 4, Padres 0

Hank Webb tossed a five-hitter and rookie Mike Vail collected four straight hits to spark the Mets to victory over the Padres. Webb did not walk a batter and struck out two in notching his first big league shutout. Vail, recently called up from Tidewater where he was leading the International League in runs batted in, had two doubles and two singles and also drove in a run.

Reds 11, Cubs 4

Darrell Chaney, batting only .212, drove in four runs with a single and his first homer of the year to lead the Reds over the Cubs. The Reds banged out 19 hits, with Tony Perez driving in his 1,000th career run. The Reds had six doubles, including two each by George Foster and Dave Concepcion. Jerry Morales and Bill Madlock homered for the Cubs.

Cardinals 3, Astros 3

The Cardinals averted a loss when Cliff Johnson's 11th inning homer was wiped out by a rainstorm which forced the umpires to postpone play after a two-hour and 14-minute delay. The score reverted back to the last of the 10th and the game will be replayed in its entirety tonight as part of a doubleheader. Johnson was deprived of what would have been his sixth homer in six games, only two short of the major league record.

Safe At Third

Pirates' Richie Hebner slides safely into third as Braves' Darrell Evans watches the throw come in late. An error was charged to shortstop Bob Belloir on the play which took place in the fourth inning of Pittsburgh's 4-0 victory. UPI)

Cleveland Likes Dennis Eckersley

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Down there in fourth place in the American League East, 17 games behind the first-place Boston Red Sox, the Cleveland Indians don't have much to think about except 1976.

In Dennis Eckersley, however, they may have a lot to think about.

A 20-year rookie right-hander from Fremont, Calif., Eckersley started the season in the bullpen but graduated to the starting rotation on May 25 with a three-hit shutout over the Oakland A's and has been an eye-opener for Manager Frank Robinson and the rest of the Indians ever since.

Eckersley won his 10th game — first Cleveland pitcher to achieve that total this season — when he pitched a three-hitter and struck out eight in the Indians' 5-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

The Texas Rangers defeated the Detroit Tigers 1-0 and the Minnesota Twins beat the Milwaukee Brewers 6-3 in the only other American League games. Baltimore's scheduled game at Kansas City was rained out.

In the National League, it was Cincinnati 11 Chicago 4, Pittsburgh 4 Atlanta 0, New York 4 San Diego 0, Philadelphia 4 Los Angeles 2 and St. Louis 3 and Philadelphia 3 in a tie game halted by rain after 10 innings.

Eckersley, who was backed by homers by Robinson and Charlie Spikes, had a no-hitter until Bill Melton singled in the White Sox' run with two out in the seventh but was disappointed in losing the classic effort.

"It would have been nice to have a no-hitter, in fact it would have been out of sight," said Eckersley. "It would have really put the iicing on the cake for this season.

"I started to tire in the fifth inning but the no-hitter kept me going," he added. I lost my fast ball in the sixth but it came back to me in the eighth and ninth. It was a letdown to see Melon get the single in the seventh but I wasn't going to let it get me down. Being in the bullpen in the beginning of the season was a big help because I always came in in tough situations."

"I didn't know much about Eckersley in spring training but I knew he was a fine prospect," said Robinson, "He has been a tremendous help to our club and he has not surprised me. He has got a lot of heart and determination."

Rangers 1 Tigers 0

Rookie Jim Umbarger pitched a three-hitter to raise his record to 6-5 for the Rangers. The Rangers scored the only run of the game in the second inning when Jim Spencer singled, moved to second on a walk and scored on designated hitter Tom Grieve's single. Ray Bare was the loser for the Tigers.

Twins 6 Brewers 3

Dave McKay homered and Lyman Bostock had three hits and drove in two runs to lead the Twins' attack. Bill Butler relieved Joe Decker with the bases filled and none out in the fourth and allowed the Brewers just two hits the rest of the way. The loss was the Brewers' ninth in their last 1(games.

Jeff's and CH in Swing Finals

KINGSTON

Jeff's Place and the Children's Home played their way into Thursday's Swing Division championship game with victories Monday night at Block Park in the City Slo-Pitch Softball League.

Jeff's on the strength of one big inning, eliminated Elmendorf Brothers, 13-11, while the Children's Home took a 5-1 decision from Hess Gasoline.

In other Slo-Pitch action Monday, Corner Rest needed nine innings to defeat Hurley Mt. Inn, 9-8 in an AA Division pre-playoff battle, and in the B Division Anchorage gained the playoffs with an 11-2 win over White Eagle.

Jeff's wiped out a seven-run Elmendorf lead with a 12-run outburst in the fourth that stood up over the remainder of the distance. Joe Kershaw slammed a pair of homers and drove in four runs to lead the winners, and Babe Golgoski and Jeff Sperling belted doubles.

Oscar Jones homered and doubled twice as Elmendorf began with four runs in the first inning and led, 8-1 after three and a half. The losers outhit Jeff's 18-16, but even a three-run rally in the top of the seventh left them short. Golgoski got the win over Wayne Elnendorf

Charlie Craig homered, Bob Hazenbush tripled and Dennis McCann drilled three hits to power the Children's Home into the finals. Craig scattered seven hits to notch the victory and was cruising with a shutout until Hess spoiled it with its only run in the last of the sevenh.

Craig and McCann each had a pair of RBI's to help pin the loss on Jack Watzka.

Sly base running enabled Corner Rest to emerge a winner. With Jim Murtaugh aboard in the last of the ninth, Tom Barton singled and deliberately got himself tangled in a rundown to allow Murtaugh to slip home with the winning run.

Corner Rest advanced t more pre-playoff action Wednesday against an opponent t be decided.

Anchorage pounded out 2(hits and went ahead for keep with five runs in the second inning. After allowing two run in the first, Jim Hotalin threw blanks the rest of the a to pick up the win.

Anchorage will face th Freeman tonight in anothe pre-playoff matchup.

Late Season for NFL Players

CHICAGO (UPI) — The chance that National Football League players might be able to negotiate a contract with club owners for the first time in more than a year brightened today after an extended negotiating session in a "cordial" atmosphere which extended into the small hours of the morning.

The negotiating session came as a surprise and it appeared that it might continue on Tuesday.

Player representatives were called together to hear a progress report on negotiations from the National Football League Players Association President Kermit Alexander and executive director Ed Garvey. But midway through their session, Garvey contacted management representatives and they agreed to fly to Chicago late Monday afternoon to resume negotiations.

Both Alexander and Garvey had indicated that management previously wanted to discuss first the Rozelle Rule under which the NFL commissioner determines compensation for teams which lose players who have played out their option. They association heads indicated that the NFLPA did not want to settle that matter first, but preferred instead to settle other issues.

"The owners keep saying we must negotiate the Rozelle Rule," Garvey said. "Three courts have indicated that it's ilegal and if we negotiated a settlemeet on it all we would be doing is adding ourselves as defendants in a suit. We're not going to do that."

But Garvey also declared that management had seemed more "conciliatory" since Rozelle had to change his compensation award in the case of Cullen Bryant, whom he had ordered the Los Angeles to send to the Detroit Lions as compensation fo Ron Jesie, who played out his option with the Lions and signed with the Rams.

Bryant took the case to court and it was ruled that he coul not be forced to move. Rozelle then ordered the Rams to yiel draft choices.

Garvey said he believed the management attitude ha changed since that time.

In the Monday night negotiating session, the two side discussed all proiosals from both management and the player including the Rozelle Rule, in a "cordial" atmosphere, spokesman said.

There was no deadline set on how late or how long th negotiations would continue since both sides apparently be lieved progress toward an agreement could be made. Th negotiations were going on in the same hotel in which th negotiations broke down more than a year ago, Aug. 25, 1974 when the players gave up on their 55-day strike and went o to play the 1974 season without a contract.

Since then, though there have been some negotiations, ther has been no progress toward a new agreement and the Monda night meeting offered the brightest prospect yet for a futur settlement.

"We'll listen to any offer they have that would be legal o the Rozelle Rule," Garvey said. "If we're going to live togethe let's try to come up with a system that will make sense to th owners and the players."

Gaffney Captures Twaalfskill Title

By Charles Tiano
Sports Editor

KINGSTON

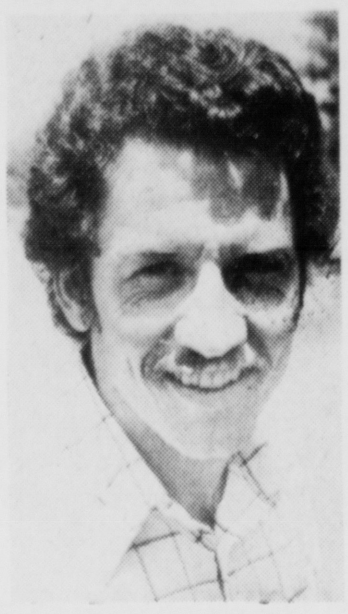

Dan Gaffney modestly admitted that it was "the first time I've ever won," after defeating Clarence Raichle for the 1975 Twaalfskill Club men's championship. But it most certainly will not be his last title.

Through intermittent showers and downpours, in a Wagnerian setting underscoring the timeless battle between youth and age, Gaffney led from wire to wire as he routed the grand old veteran, 8 and 6, in the 36-hole finals.

Ernest Hemingway would have loved it because it was like the Old Man and the Sea all over again — an aging star doomed to frustration in what very likely will be his last chance ever at a title he has never won.

The dashing barrister threw textbook golf at his senior opponent and Raichle, the Boy Wonder of area golf four decades ago, never came close to closing the 35-year gap between him and the 29-year-old lawyer.

Gaffney played the 30 holes of the match in one-over par, taking a four-hole lead with a 34-36-70 card in the morning round. He toured the third nine in 36 to hike his lead to six holes and played the last three in par in a driving rain to close out the match with a par-3 on Twaalfskill's treacherous third hole. His card showed 25 pars, two birdies and three bogies.

Raichle fashioned 38-37-75 in the morning round, 38 on the front nine in the afternoon and then bogeyed the 10th and 12th holes.

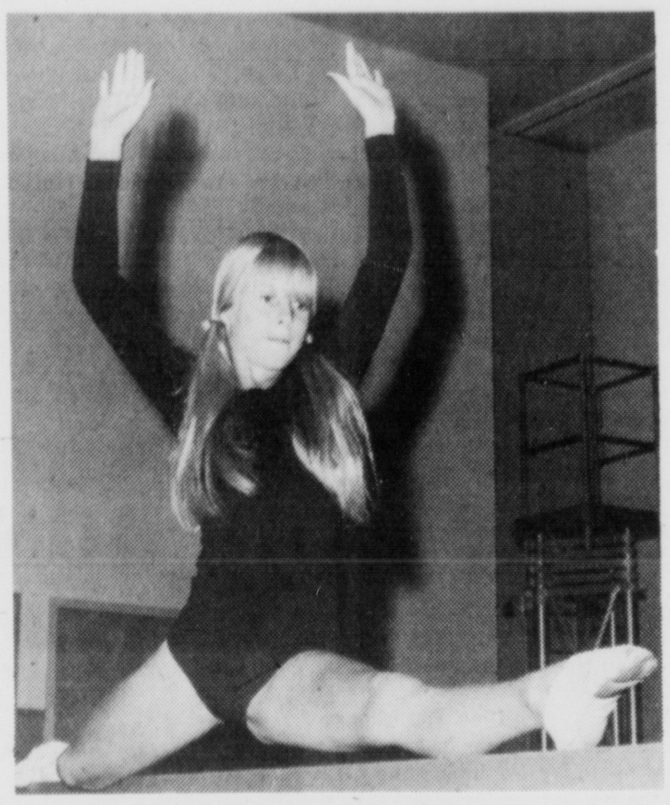

Gaffney moved to a quick 2-hole lead with 3s on the par-3 second and third holes in the first round. After moving 5-up on the 10th hole, the two contestants halved nine straight holes.

Gaffney, a new player of solid stature in Ulster County amateur ranks, said his game has come on strong since early July. He fashioned two 65s in recent weeks and came up the championship in top form.

"I didn't play too well early this year," he said. "I was disappointed with my play in the Ulster County Amateur and the Woodstock Open, but I think I've got my game straightened out."

Absent from the Kingston scene for nearly a decade, Gaffney was a member of the 1964 Kingston High School varsity that in 1964 set the then KHS team mark of 286, with Gaffney contributing a 68. After stops in Boston College, England and Rochester, he returned to the Kingston area during the 1974 season.

Raichle had high praise for his victorious opponent. "Danny has all the shots now," he said. "If he keeps his cool, he can be the next superstar of Ulster County golf.

Look, Ma, No Hands

Deborah Pastor, of Accord, does a split on balance beam in recent course in Gymnastics which she took at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College. Thirty-one young people, ranging in age from 7 to 14, were enrolled in the course taught by Ruth Peonicke, who feels the large enrollment reflects a rising interest today in gymnastics.

County Junior Tennis Title to Argulewicz

KINGSTON

Joe Argulewicz, a member of the Kingston High School varsity, is the new Ulster County Junior Singles Tennis Champion. Playing almost flawless tennis, Argulewicz trounced Andy Stoll of Saugerties in straight 6-3, 6-1 in the finals of the Ulster County Junior Tennis Tournament.

Argulewicz was too steady for the hard-hitting Saugerties star in their showdown for the 18-under division.

Two Coleman High players — Paul Lyle and Jeff Bubnack — met in the finals of the Boys 15-under division, with Lyle emerging the winner in a hard fought, three-set match, 6-4, 4-6 and 6-2. Lyle's net proved the difference between the two.

Mike Greenspan out-dueled Brad Jordan 6-4, 6-4 to win the Boys 12-under division. Jordan jumped to a 4-0 lead in the second set, but Greenspan rallied to win six consecutive games and the match.

The Girls 15-under title went to Kim Janssen, who blasted out a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Selina DeCicco. Using a two-hand backhand, Kim made very few errors and simply out-rallied Selina.

The girls 12-under crown was captured by Julie Grayson, who downed Tricia Schonger 6-0, 6-2. Julie has now won the division title for the second straight year.

The girls 18-and-under final between Mary Lynn Bock and Melanie Rau was washed out Sunday morning and has been re-scheduled for Saturday at 11 a.m.

Rosner's and Lechner Tops In SAA League

SAUGERTIES

Rosner's Oasis survived a tight, three-way battle with Pepperidge Farms and Lee Electric to capture the 1975 SAA Men's Softball League pennant by a single game over their rivals.

Jack Lechner of Sperl's Pakkers led all batters with a .611 average and thus became the third person in league history to win two batting titles.

Lee Electric's Buc Miller led in RBIs with 23, while the trio of John Beisel, Al Goodwin and Ray Scally stroked three homers each to share that title.

Pepperidge Farms' Ed Himberger led the pitchers with a 7 and 1 record. Albert Scott of the Oasis posted a 12-2 mark.

Braves Post 8-5 Mark; Marz Paces Hitters

KINGSTON

The Kingston Braves posted an 18-5 record in the Hudson Valley Rookie League wars this season, but those numbers disguise a particular note of futility that haunted the locals in their unsuccessful bid for a title.

Of the five defeats, four came at the hands of the Northern Division champion Poughkeepsie Lasers, and those setbacks relegated the Braves to also rans in both halves of the season.

On the individual side, Bob Marz and Tim Cole paced the Braves' statistics. Marz, of Kingston High and Ulster County Community College, accumulated a .328 batting average to top the hitters, while Cole, a Saugerties High student, compiled a 5-1 mound record with 82 strikeouts in 42 innings of work.

Tom Whitaker and Rich Koegel also had good years for Kingston. Whitaker was the No. 2 pitcher with a 5-2 slate and had the best earned run average with only eight runs allowed in 47 innings. A New Paltz State student, Whitaker also batted .310, led the squad with four triples and shared the lead in total hits with 22.

Penn State's Koegel also collected 22 hits, and paced the Braves in RBI's with 20 and total bases with 45. He slammed four homers to tie Marz for that honor.

Montanye Wins Accord Feature

ACCORD

Hal Montanye won the 25-lap Sportsman Feature and Jim Banks of Wappingers Falls pushed the Morgan Fuel Late Model to victory in the 20-lap Late Model feature event at Accord Speedway.

Montanye slipped past Doug Tyler with two laps remaining, after Tyler and Bobby Green were involved in a bumping incident that caused the judges to move Green to the rear. Green, however, withdrew from the race rather than accept the judges' ruling.

Tyler was runnerup followed by Dick Hansen, Pat DeLeon, Jimmy Feugel and Earl O'Neil.

Banks battled Joe Winnie to the checker in the Late Model race after overhauling early leader Don Palmateer. Georgie King finished third ahead of Gary Ronk, Johnny Rose and Ronnie Jones.

Anna Salmi of Accord copped the Ladies Demolition Derby.

Accord Speedway has the regular stock program set Friday, followed by triple-header Sunday night featuring Late Models, Mini I stocks and motorcycles.

Record-Breaking Meet

HURLEY

Twenty-three pool records and 15 team standards went by the boards, Hurley Recreation edged Zena, 222 2/3 to 220 1/3 in the Kingston Area Swim League.

Although Zena won 26 first places to Hurley's 20, superior depth allowed Hurley to pile up enough second and third place points to win.

Pool records were set by Zena's boys medley relay team of Mark Taylor, Sean O'Grady, Kirk Jacobs and Chuck Mason and its freestyle relay team of Bissell McDermott, Chuck Mason, Sean O'Grady, Kirk Jacobs and Steve Turnbull. In the girls free style, a new record was set by the Hurley team of Kathy Wildblood, Lisa Warren, Sandy Sauer, Jeanne Wildblood and Becky Warren.

Bob Darling of Hurley and Kirk Jacobs of Zena each set four new individual records. Annette Mason of Zena set three records, with Julie Grayson and Sean O'Casey of Zena each setting two. Lisa Warren, Bob Begley, Becky Warren of Hurley and Zena's Chuck Mason and Steve Turnbull had one each.

Lisa Warren led Coach Charlie Lang's Hurley squad with five wins. Bob Darling had four, Kathy Wildblood and Becky Warren, two each.

Ulster Canines Take Firsts

WOODSTOCK

Two members of the Ulster Dog Training Club scored firsts at the Taconic Hills Kennel Club Dog Show at Shrub Oak.

Alex, a white miniature poodle owned and handled by Sharon LeFefa of Rosendale, scored 187 in the Novice B Obedience class to take fourth place and also was the high scoring poodle in the class. The win gave Alex his third and final leg for his Companion Dog Degree.

Also showing in Novice B Obedience, Joyce Rockwell of Kingston and her Papillon Pee Wee took first place with a score of 194 for a second leg towards the Companion Dog Degree.

Shanklin Goes

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pittsburgh Steeler wide receiver Ron Shanklin, who complained last year about his second string stature, was traded to the Chicago Bears Monday for a future draft choice.

Shanklin, 28, a veteran from North Texas State, saw little action last season as he split playing time with Lynn Swann. Shanklin caught only 19 passes and scored one touchdown in 1974.

This year, Shanklin was alternating for the wide receiver position with veteran Frank Lewis and second-year men John Stallworth and Lynn Swann.

Shanklin was the Steelers' second draft choice in 1970. In five seasons he caught 166 passes for 3,407 yards. In four exhibition games this year, Shanklin caught four passes for 39 yards.

Stevens Cup

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (UPI) — Veterans Vic Seixas and Hugh Stewart paced the defending champion U.S. team to a 3-0 victory over Canada Monday in opening-day action in the Stevens Cup.

No Sale Yet

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco Giants owner Horace Stoneham says a Japanese group is interested in buying the team and its real estate holdings but adds that no deal has been concluded.

"It's true that a Japanese group is interested and it is one of two or three groups negotiating with us," he said. "The Japanese group is very interested in developing the real estate."

The Giants owner said the population of Casa Grande, Ariz., has doubled since the Giants started spring training there in 1958 but the area "is largely undeveloped.

"It has the potential to be a very lucrative area," Stoneham said.

Tips On Storing Meat And Poultry

As soon as you get the meat home, take off the store wrapping and rewrap it loosely in wax paper so that air can get to it. Sometimes it's more convenient to put it in an open dish and cover it loosely with waxed paper. Put in refrigerator.

If you're freezing the meat, however, it should be wrapped airtight.

August Car Sales Up, Now Near '74 Pace

DETROIT (UPI) — Mid-month new car sales jumped 36 percent from the first part of August and were within 6 percent of last year when buyers pushed sales to near-record levels as they tried to beat price hikes.

The four U.S. auto companies, trying to clear out 1975 models before the higher-priced but largely unchanged '76s make their debut, reported Monday that Aug. 11-20 sales totaled 201,177 cars. That was the lowest since 1971, but much stronger than the first 10 days of the month which were at a 14-year low.

The results ranged from an eight-tenths of 1 percent increase at Ford to a 27 percent drop at Chrysler, compared with last year. All four companies improved from the first 10 days of the month, ranging from 8 percent at American Motors to 57.5 percent at Chrysler.

Other bright spots in the sales reports included a record mid-August for Cadillac with the sale of 6,426 of the luxury cars, a combined car and truck sales record for Chevrolet and a new sales mark for Dodge trucks.

Industry executives said the mid-August sales pace was a continuation of the industry's slow recovery from its severest slump since the Depression with a good sellout of the remaining 1975 models.

General Motors and American Motors already have announced '76 prices up more than $200. Ford and Chrysler are expected to follow with competitive increases.

Treehouse Monopoly

Phil Cooper, 13, and his brother, Rick, 11, of Morrisville, Pa., are part of a group of nine youngsters attempting a 150-hour monopoly session in their treehouse near their home in Morrisville. The record for playing in a treehouse is 120 hours according to the New York-based Monopoly Records Documantation Committee. (UPI)

Inservice Police Training

KINGSTON

The Kingston Police Department will sponsor an inservice training course in "The Use of Deadly Physical Force" on Wednesday and Thursday from 6 to 10 p.m., according to an announcement by Police Chief Julius Glassman.

The classes will be held at police headquarters on Meadow Street. Area police officers interested in attending must provide oral or written confirmation to Detective Sergeant Joseph Feraca no later than today. Priority will be given to the first 45 applicants.

The instructor for the course will be Sgt. Victor Rerisi, of the Nassau County Police Department's Police Academy. Each class will include films and discussions concerning the use of deadly physical force and firearms techinques. The course is intended to increase the performance, safety and knowledge of the individzul officers who might be confronted with an incident that could require the use of force.

Certificates will be presented to each officer completing the accredited course.

Blue Cross Requests Rate Increase

NEW YORK (UPI) — Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Greater New York has requested permission to raise its rates for approximately 4 million subscribers an average 20.1 percent, effective the start of next year.

In a statement Monday, the plan said its application filed with the State Insurance Department requests hikes averaging 21.9 percent for hospital coverage and 11.1 percent for surgical-medical coverage.

If approved, the rate increase would be the fifth for Blue Cross-Blue Shield in as many years, the last one a 16.8 percent hike which took effect six months ago.

A spokesman for the plan said if the increases are granted, Blue Cross-Blue Shield should be able to get along without further rises until sometime in 1977.

The spokesman said the new rates would effect "community subscribers" — those who pay as individuals or belong to small group plans — totaling about 44 percent of total plan membership.

The increases are needed to keep pace with rising hospital costs and to bring the plan's reserve funds to the minimum level required by state law, the spokesman said.

He said the funds had fallen below the prescribed level after the Insurance Department authorized the plan in 1974 to use part of its reserve to meet benefit costs.

Quit FBI Because of Pressure

BOSTON (UPI) — A top FBI press aide says he quit the bureau because of internal pressure against giving the media too much information, it was reported today.

"I guess I provided too much access," the Boston Globe quoted William Ellingsworth, 35, as saying.

He said he quit under pressure from many veteran FBI officials who had worked for the bureau during the more than 40-year reign of J. Edgar Hoover as director.

"They wanted a public relations program. I wanted a public-information program," he said.

"The philosophy of the assistant directors and associate directors in the bureau, whenever a request for information came in, was 'will this do the bureau any good?' I always answered, 'What difference does that make? It's a legitimate request for information.'"

He also said reporters who wrote articles unfavorable to the bureau were less likely to get cooperation from the bureau when they asked for information.

A spokesman for FBI Director Clarence Kelley said, "Mr. Kelley considers Bill a friend and will have no further comment to make at this time."

Ellingsworth started work Monday at the Fairfax County Police department in suburban Washington. He had worked for Kelley, who brought him to Washington from Kansas City when he was appointed by former President Nixon in 1973.

The newspaper said Ellingsworth was reassigned three months ago from bureau headquarters to the FBI training academy at Quantico, Va.

Ellingsworth said he was cut off from access to Kelley, and eventually told by others to look around for a new job.

Suits To Delay Raises

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police and firemen won't get hefty pay raises won in last week's strike until mounting suits are settled in the courts.

City Attorney Thomas O'Connor gave those instructions to the controller as the backlash against the strike settlement mounted Monday.

Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. charged the walkout was conducted "illegally and with brute force" and the city Board of Supervisors overturned two vetoes by Mayor Joseph Alioto to clear the way for strike-related charter amendments on the November ballot.

In Superior Court, presiding Judge Robert Drewes issued contempt citations today against three policemen who, when served citations, had defied the judge's order to return to work last week.

"I'm not going to let them forget it," the judge said.

He also scheduled a hearing Sept. 18 on a suit designed to block the pay raises. The suit contends the setting of municipal employes' pay is under the domain of the Board of Supervisors, not the mayor.

Another lawsuit against the pay raises was to be filed today by the Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with neighborhood groups, according to the Chamber's James Haynes.

The governor, speaking to newsmen in Sacramento, called the strike "outrageous" and said it would create adverse public reaction to the collective bargaining efforts of public employes.

The Board of Supervisors, ignoring the mayor's charge that it had become "the rallying point for every cop-hater in the neighborhood," wiped out Alioto's veto of a measure for the Nov. 22 ballot. The measure would strip his office of the power to invoke emergency powers in imposing salary settlements.

ERA Plans Scuttled

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Gov. Hugh L. Carey's plans to launch a statewide campaign today for approval of the Equal Rights Amendment to the state constitution were scuttled due to the press of other matters, specifically New York City's fiscal woes.

The governor had planned to sign a proclaimation making Tuesday "Equal Rights Amendment Day" while representatives of dozens of organizations across the state stood by in the Capital's Red Room.

However, an announcement late Monday afternoon said "other duties" would keep Carey in his New York City office and the ceremony would be rescheduled for another day.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Mary Anne Krupsak's press secretary distributed copies of a "women's equality day statement" commemorating the 55th anniversary of the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution which guarantees women's suffrage.

"How fitting it will be in this, the International Women's Year, for the people of our state to demonstrate to this country and to the world their concern for the basic human rights of women by making the ERA an integral part of the state constitution," Miss Krupsak said.

Carey's public relations office had also requested mayors and county officials across the state to make simultaneous announcements in support of passage of the ERA proposal, which will be on the Nov. 4 ballot.

A spokesman for Carey said members of the executive staff notified would-be participants by telephone that the kick-off of the campaign had been postponed.

Streets Flooded

By UPI

Thunderstorms swept across Kansas and Arkansas Monday night producing tornadoes, high winds and hail.

A cloudburst dropped five inches of rain on Liberty, Mo., flooding streets with water, and in nearby Kansas City, three to four inches of rain fell.

A tornado was spotted near Little Rock, Ark., Monday night and another was seen 30 miles southeast of Wichita, Kan.

No injuries were reported.

Golfball-size hail and high winds damaged part of Newkirk, Okla., and hail one inch in diamteter hit northeast of Jefferson City, Mo.

Scattered thundershowers extended through the lower Great Lakes into New England. A marine warning was issued for southern Lake Erie boaters.

Thundershowers also fell in Texas, and some were spread from the lower Mississippi Valley into Florida.

Cool air also moved into northeastern Kansas and dropped temperatures into the 50s for the first time in three weeks. To the north, temperatures were in the 40s from Minnesota into the northern Rockies.

But it was a different story on the East Coast where 80-degree readings warmed the eastern Carolinas early today.

Ohio Disaster Services officials were to tour Cleveland today to assess an estimated $10 million in damage caused by violent thunderstorms Sunday that flooded the city and claimed four lives. The tour reportedly was a prelude to asking President Ford to declare the city a disaster area.

These hours will be in effect through Monday, Sept. 1, Labor Day, when the beach will officially close for the season.

They still haven't unveiled the rustproof car.

And they probably never will. Because real rustproofing can't be done on an assembly line. Undercoating and ordinary rustproofing don't do a complete job either.

But Ziebart uses 9 patented spray tools to get inside your car's body. We cover every square inch of rust-prone metal with our unique sealant. To make your car really rustproof, and worth more when you do trade it in.

There's only one place to get it. Through an authorized Ziebart Dealer. That's us.

Jean Adams TEEN FORUM

By Jean Adams, Ph.D

UNANSWERED: (Q.) We wrote you asking for some advice about what we could do in dealing with a friend. Well, THANKS A LOT! You never answered, and this friend has gotten us into serious trouble.

Why didn't you answer? If only you had, maybe everything would be all right now. You helped us in the worst possible way.—In Trouble in Pennsylavania.

(A.) I wish I could answer every letter personally—by return mail. That, however is impossible. When my mail reached 1,000 letters a week I had to stop trying to send personal answers. The cost of secretaries and supplies and other items does not permit it.

But in Teen Forum I DO answer the questions most often and persistently asked. And most readers frequently can find problems very similar to theirs answered here.

Almost all of the answers I give are based on everyday common sense. And one of the best common sense rules there is is this one: If in doubt, don't. You were in doubt, but you did what you DOUBTED was right, and got into trouble. Next time, don't.

ASKING HER: (Q.) When I am around girls I get scared. I never have the courage to go up to a girl and ask her to go steady with me.—Shy in Massachusetts.

(A). Just walking up to a girl who attracts you and asking her to go steady is not the thing to do. First get better acquainted with her. Talk to her, in person and on the telephone. Share thoughts and experiences with her. Date her a few times. Then talk about going steady—if you still want to. It will be much easier.

(For printed answers to your questions about shyness and dating, write to Dr. Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.)

WIN AT BRIDGE

Misplay Upsets Sure Contract

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Five diamonds is a better contract than three notrump, but expert South was in three notrump. He ducked one spade. Sometimes defenders shift suits, but a second spade was led.

He needed a successful club finesse to collect 10 tricks, but South saw there was a slight extra chance. East just might hold the singleton king of diamonds.

Anyway, South wasn't vulnerable and decided it was worthwhile to play the diamond ace to see what would happen.

He did and East dropped the king. Now South relaxed. He led a second diamond to dummy's 10 East discarded a spade!

West asked, "No diamonds partner?" After a repeated question East produced the jack. It won the trick and since East had exposed a spade he had to lead it. South went one down and to make matters really bad the club finesse was on all the time.

Anti-Red Violence Continues

Goncalves Fights for Political Life

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Embattled Prime Minister Vasco Goncalves fought for his political survival today in the face of anti-Communist violence and an ultimatum by military moderates for his resignation.

About 2,000 demonstrators attacked Communist headquarters in the town of Leiria Monday night for the second time in 24 hours.

Army troops assigned to protect the Communists exchanged gunfire with the protesters and hurled tear gas grenades into the crowd.

Police spokesmen said one man was killed and six were injured during the flareup of violence in the conservative town north of Lisbon.

In Porto, considered a conservative stronghold in northern Portugal, a three-man National Broadcasting Corp. crew was beaten by a crowd shouting "Death to the CIA."

A spokesman for President Francisco da Costa Gomes said he had decided to support his Communist-backed prime minister despite rumors of an impending coup by military moderates opposed to Goncalves.

Costa Gomes' support for Goncalves has wavered during the past week but the presidential spokesman said Monday, "Reports that the prime minister will be replaced are completely untrue. He will remain head of government."

Political informants said military moderates, headed by Army Chief of Staff Carlos Fabiao, had given the president until today to get rid of Goncalves — with at least an implied threat to use force.

Military sources said Fabiao had proposed a new cabinet, headed by himself.

Goncalves, apparently unwilling to risk a public appearance, canceled plans to address a left-wing rally Monday night in the fishing town of Sesimbra, 15 miles south of Lisbon.

The Communists and seven allied groups announced the formation of a "United Front" Monday to fight against "the return of reaction." The front called for a rally in Lisbon Wednesday night to show support for Goncalves.

The Socialist party, which withdrew from the coalition cabinet last month, has vowed to remain out until Goncalves is removed from office.

'A Bomb for Grandma'

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Madeline Pasqua says she doesn't believe her 18-year-old grandson is guilty of allegedly plotting to blow her up for a $10,000 inheritance.

"I don't believe this. I don't know why he would want to do something like this to me. I pay his college tuition," said 68-year-old Mrs. Pasqua as she appeared at her grandson's arraignment Monday in federal court.

She carried a brown paper bag with clean clothes for the youth, Stefan Pasqua, a Rutgers University sophomore.

Pasqua and two high school students; Robert Luongo, 19, and Allen Disque, 19, all of Newark, are charged with making a pipe bomb and mailing it to Mrs. Pasqua.

Police said the four youths were members of a group calling itself "The First Brotherhood," which sought to change the world by revolutionary means.

Leo Shatzel, chief inspector of the U.S. Postal Service in Newark, said the device was the first of a series the youths planned to mail to potential victims, reportedly including several policemen.

Pasqua, a chemistry major described by authorities as the "brains" of the alleged scheme, was held in lieu of $100,000 bail. Bail was set at $50,000 for the other two youths.

While authorities said Pasqua hoped to collect a $10,000 inheritance upon the death of his grandmother, Mrs. Pasqua said she had a $5,000 life insurance policy she had been paying on for the last 30 years, but her four sons were the beneficiaries.

"I have no will. I don't know where he got the idea he was a beneficiary," she said.

Pasqua's father, Vincent, said his son had never been in trouble and was a "good" student.

Authorities arrested the teenagers last Friday with a 15-year-old juvenile, who was not identified.

Police said a pipe bomb was sent last week to Mrs. Pasqua's jewelry store, but was taken to a nearby luncheonette by the postman because the woman was not at the shop. Margaret Dolan, a waitress, notified authorities of the bomb after opening the package. Police said she managed to prevent the device from going off.

The suspects face a preliminary hearing Sept. 2. If convicted, each could receive a maximum $10,000 fine and 20 years in jail.

Florida Inventor Offers Reward

DETROIT (UPI) — James Hoffa's son said today his family does not want the help of a Florida inventor who offered a $100,000 reward for information as to the fate or whereabouts of the missing former Teamsters International union boss.

"I don't want him doing anything with the case," lawyer James P. Hoffa said. "I think he's a fraud."

But in Orlando, Fla., C. Monroe Lerman said he would not withdraw the offer.

"It's my money," Lerman said. "If we have to raise the ante to $150,000, we'll do it."

Lerman gained widespread publicity recently when he sent anonymous photographs of himself with Hoffa to the Detroit office of United Press International and to Hoffa's son.

The FBI investigated the mailing of the photos because at first they left the impression that Hoffa, who vanished outside a suburban Detroit restaurant July 30, had been seen since his disappearance.

Lerman said he sent the photos, taken in Orlando in April, because he wanted the Hoffa family and his friends to see a recent photo —"instead of the ones that make him look old and grim."

Hoffa's son, a Detroit lawyer, said Tuesday he thought Lerman's role in the case was "cruel."

"We don't appreciate him sending the pictures," Hoffa said. "He shouldn't get involved at all. He only met my father once."

Lerman made the reward offer last week, raising the total reward in the case to $375,000. The bulk of the reward, the largest in Michigan history, came from groups in the Teamsters union that Hoffa led from 1957 to 1971.

Lerman, who has been confined to a wheelchair most of his life, said he was offering the reward out of friendship for Hoffa. He said Hoffa offered to help him found a national union for handicapped persons.

"I apologized for sending the photos," Lerman said Tuesday night. "I'm not a fraud. I just want to help."

Meanwhile, federal, state and local investigators said they have no concrete clues to Hoffa's disappearance. He vanished after telling his family he was meeting a reputed Mafia kingpin and two other men for lunch.

A Killer May Be Loose

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Somewhere in the Veterans Hospital here, a killer may be loose. Still, hospital services go on — but with some precautions.

The FBI is investigating a series of apparently deliberately induced respiratory failures that have claimed at least two lives. The investigation could take months.

The hospital has reduced admissions to emergency cases only and halted non-emergency surgery. Extra nurses and orderlies have been added to watch over patients, and muscle-relaxing drugs believed to have caused more than 40 cases of respiratory failure have been put under strict control.

Hospital officials said earlier it was unlikely the respiratory failures were accidental.

Mark Gullickson, a hospital administrative assistant, said doctors and nurses continue to provide services despite the possibility a killer may be among them.

"The staff has been very good about this," Gullickson said Monday, "and the patients are very optimistic."

Patients still come to the 10-story, red brick hospital from Michigan and three surrounding states. But in the past two weeks, many have been turned away.

A few patients are avoiding the hospital, although Gullickson said he thought only an occasional patient had canceled a visit out of fear.

Gullickson and FBI spokesmen declined to talk about the investigation.

It was learned Monday the investigation may have widened to neighboring hospitals clustered with the VA facility on the edge of the University of Michigan's north campus. There was no immediate confirmation from authorities.

A VA spokesman said there have been frequent patient exchanges with the University of Michigan hospital.

A spokesman for the nearby University Hospital said it conducted its own internal investigation after the mysterious series of respiratory failures and deaths became known, and that nothing unusual was found.

Officials were awaiting laboratory tests that could pinpoint the cause of death of several victims.

One staff member said there was an undercurrent of emotion —perhaps fear — below the normal, workaday appearance as the hospital continued its daily operations. But,said Gullickson, hospitals must continue to operate regardless of the circumstances.

"There are just too many other things that have to be done," he said.

World Record For Slot

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The MGM Grand Hotel claimed a world record slot machine payoff Monday — a $152,683 jackpot won on a $1 machine by an unidentified local man.

The hotel said the previous record was a $70,000 jackpot won on a Reno slot machine in May.

The winner hit the record jackpot on his third $1 pull of the handle, the hotel said. The hotel has a policy against identifying winners. The same machine had previously recorded payoffs of $12,500, $15,400, $54,340 and $62,250.

Refugees Trapped

MACAO (UPI) — A fierce civil war has turned the island colony of Portuguese Timor into a virtual slaughterhouse and trapped more than 1,000 refugees in the capital, reports reaching Macao said today.

Some 300 refugees were evacuated Monday by ship from the Timor capital of Dili, beseiged by fighting between two rival nationalist movements.

A communique from the Dili naval station, the only area under Portuguese control, said the Macao-registered freighter Macdili was hit by mortar fire late Sunday when it entered the port to rescue the refugees.

Another group of 1,100 refugees arrived in Darwin, Australia, Monday aboard the Norwegian freighter Lloyd Bakke.

They told of a bloodbath in the bloody power struggle between the right-wing Democratic Union of Timor and the left-wing Revolutionary Front for Independent East Timor.
